

Torrance-Narbonne Play 15th Annual 'Big Game' Tomorrow at Lomita

Ocean Fishing Catch Recorded

Deep sea fishing has become one of the principal outdoor recreations of California. Twenty years ago there were practically no facilities for ocean sport fishing except skiffs or expensive charter boats, but since that time a fleet of over 200 party fishing boats has sprung up so that now fishermen of small income can avail themselves of this popular sport, that has also proven to be a lucrative business.

Through the cooperation of owners and operators of these sport fishing boats, catch records are kept by the State Division of Fish and Game that have permitted a study of ocean game fish. Compilation of these records for the years 1936, 1937 and 1938, has just been completed by Richard S. Croker, senior fisheries researcher at the California State Fisheries Laboratory, and released by the Division of Fish and Game.

"The quantity of fish taken by the passengers on party boats, charter boats and barges is almost unbelievable," Croker reports. "To the individual boat skipper, seeing only his own daily catches of a few dozen or at least a few hundred fish, the assertion that the annual sport catch amounts of six million pounds a year may seem like gross exaggeration. But it isn't."

Much Benefit Derived
Over a three-year period the catch of marine sport fishes recorded amounted to: 6,385,027 pounds in 1936; 6,403,525 in 1937 and in 1938, 5,964,848 pounds. The three leading species taken were barracuda, yellowtail, rock and kelp bass, in the order given. The Los Angeles county region leads all the rest of the state in amount of fish caught, passengers carried and number of boats operating.

The San Diego region ranks second and Santa Cruz-Monterey region third. The San Francisco-San Mateo county region is last in size of catch, but this region is destined to increase in importance due to the newly awakened interest in salmon trolling.

Much benefit is derived from these reports on ocean sport fishing. They have aided in the formulation of protective legislation and the defeat of harmful laws; given a clearer idea of which kinds of fish and which fishing areas may or may not need additional protection, and in general a better understanding of the problems besetting sport fishermen and boat operators.

BRING YOUR CAR

Motorists who are applying for a renewal of their operators' licenses are advised by James M. Carter, director of motor vehicles, to bring their own cars with them. This is necessary so they may undergo a simple test of their ability to drive safely.

Marine Teams Break Even In Final Practices

In their final practice games before cracking open the Marine League grid schedule, Narbonne nipped South Gate 7 to 0, Torrance was blanked by Jordan of Los Angeles 13 to 0, Gardena was out-passed by Bell 13 to 7 and San Pedro's second string defeated Cathedral 20 to 6 last Friday. Briefly, this is what happened:

AT JORDAN . . . Running 75 yards to one touchdown and 30 yards for another, Jordan high stepped a scoring spree in the opening quarter to defeat Torrance 13 to 0. The Tartars then braced up and threatened on several occasions. They didn't look nearly as bad as the score indicates.

AT SOUTH GATE . . . Harry Alexander tossed a 20-yard pass to Bill Gibson to give Narbonne a touchdown and a 7 to 0 victory over South Gate. Gibson also accounted for the extra point. Narbonne held command all the way.

AT BELL . . . Clicking with an overhead game after their running attack had been halted, Bell high trimmed Gardena 13 to 7. The winners tallied in the first quarter on a pass and then after Gardena had scored in the second period and went ahead one point, connected with two more aerials in the final quarter. Gardena didn't have much push.

AT SAN PEDRO . . . After his starting lineup (which defeated Covina 27 to 12 a week ago) had used the stumble, fumble and fall formation to give Cathedral high a touchdown in the first half, Coach Joe Berry of San Pedro sent the bench warmers into the contest. They clicked, passed and ran their way to three touchdowns and a 20 to 6 decision. There's a new starting lineup now at San Pedro.

Torrance Grads' Interests Cover Wide Range

By BERNARD FRIEDMAN

The U. C. L. A. Texas Aggie game at the Coliseum last Saturday attracted many Torrance football fans. Joe Miles and Henry Pupko were in the stands as well as a party made up of Jimmy Hoelzel, Walter Smith, Arthur Woodcock, Lester Stanley and Bob Fernley. Most of these were observed playing "tough football" the next day at El Prado Park.

The "tough" games seem to be a weekly affair—the Giants vs. against the Midgets and there are some exacting scrimmages played on the greensward sans spectators. All football addicts who can get away play ball on Sundays. Bob Sleeth, John Nady, Dick Beecher, Marvin Lee and others have a lot of fun in the games.

Quite a number of Torrance high grads are wondering if they'll be caught in the national draft. Some have jumped the gun. Clark Foster is one of these—he just joined the Army and will be stationed in Washington. Weston Leach and Bob Tolson, who took Civilian Aeronautics Administration training, are now full-fledged pilots. Bob is getting all the hours in the air he can.

Artists At Work
Bill Hicks and Louie Briganti, welcome additions to anybody's baseball team, are attending Compton Junior College and will probably play ball there.

In the esthetic field, Torrance high alumni boasts several artists. One of the most promising is Leslie Foster. He says he'd like to illustrate for magazines. He started drawing several years ago and although he has had little formal training, he is adept in the handling of a drawing pencil, charcoal and water colors. Les wants to study further at an art school and he is working to that end now. His work is really good—he draws landscapes, still life and portraits. Many is the sign that Les has painted around Torrance and he knows quite a few of the tricks of the trade.

Another of our more artistic grads is Edgar McDonald. His work with a camera is well known. After graduating from Torrance High, Edgar took further training at an art school. Just recently he was given a position as a photographer with a firm in Los Angeles. He shoots proms, action shots or football and other sports and hopes some day to own his own studio.

PHEASANT AND QUAIL
With quail and pheasant seasons to be opened shortly, sportsmen everywhere are planning to get their limits during the limited legal periods. The California Division of Fish and Game each season releases, rears and releases approximately 80,000 game birds consisting of pheasant, quail, partridge and wild tur-

Harbor Citizens Pay High Tribute to Retired Postmaster at Party

A most sincere tribute to the character and service of a beloved and respected citizen was given Monday night when 100 members of the community gathered at Legion Hall to honor Mrs. Lena Preston, retiring postmaster and civic leader, and her sister, Mrs. Mary Clark.

Oldtimers, among them Frank Hodges, first president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Arthur Asptille, recalled the days when Harbor City was a barley field. The late George Preston came to Harbor City in 1916 as a tract agent and he and his wife at once entered into civic and church activities.

George Preston was one of the early presidents of the chamber, and then for years its secretary, postmaster, organizer of community sings, in everything he did he was always aided by his wife. Oldtimers recall when on Harbor City day, people from several counties came to enter their pet turtles in the famous Harbor City turtle derby.

As postmaster of Harbor City succeeding her husband, Mrs. Preston made an enviable record for service, and it was with the deepest regret that her patrons learned that her health would not permit her to carry on.

Mrs. H. C. Higgs on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce and the community, presented Mrs. Preston and Mrs. Clark with a complete set of airplane luggage. They plan to take a needed rest and make some trips soon. Pupils from a dancing class entertained with costume numbers and a boys' instrumental trio gave several numbers.

A committee headed by Mr. and Mrs. Sam Barraclough, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. King and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Dana served refreshments, women of the community donating cakes.

For the 15th time in as many grid seasons, Torrance and Narbonne will tangle tomorrow afternoon in the 1940 version of the "big game" for the two schools. The encounter, at Narbonne's Griffin Field in Lomita at 3 o'clock, will also be the opener for the current Marine League football schedule. At the same time San Pedro will be playing at Gardena while Banning draws a bye date.

Both the Tartars of Torrance and the Gauchos of Lomita are reported in excellent condition for the game, neither team having suffered any major setbacks in the form of injuries in preceding practice games. Narbonne, as usual, holds the edge over Torrance. The Gauchos are defending Marine champions and have won both practice games, defeating Compton 19 to 12 and South Gate 7 to 0. The Tartars, who failed to win a single game last year, have lost to South Gate 12 to 6 and to Jordan 13 to 0.

Coach Robert Barr's Torrance squad has shown evidence, however, of developing into a stronger team than the Tartars have turned out in recent years. The 1940 eleven, for one thing, has a strong defense as shown last Friday when Jordan was held scoreless after a weak first quarter. Narbonne, under Coach Bill Sloan, has its customary rugged squad plus several players who should be heard from when the All-Marine team roster is announced.

Yardstick

Narbonne is defending champion of the Marine League this year, having won the 1939 crown with a record of three wins and a tie (with Gardena 6-6). Torrance finished in the cellar last year, losing four straight games.

The Gauchos collected 49 points and only had Gardena's six points scored against them. Torrance made seven while its opponents were collecting 33 in 1939.

Dopesters this year are tabbing Narbonne, San Pedro and Gardena as the leading contenders for the Marine title.

Coach Bill Sloan, head mentor of the Gauchos, graduated from U.S.C. with the class of 1938 and came to Narbonne in the fall of that year. His assistant and head basketball coach, Wayne Sloss, is an Occidental graduate (1934) and joined the Narbonne faculty that year.

Robert Barr has been head football coach at Torrance since he graduated from U.C.L.A. in 1939. Pete Zamperini, his assistant and head track and basketball coach, graduated from U.S.C. in 1937 and came to teach at his alma mater in the fall of 1938.

Narbonne has a heavier team this year than the invaders from Torrance. The Gauchos' line averages 167½ to the Tartars' 161½ while the Narbonne backfield averages 160 to the Torrance backs' 147½.

Army-Navy Grid Game Nov. 11 Include Review

Marking the beginning of a ten year program, the first annual Army-Navy football game will be played in the Los Angeles Coliseum on Armistice Day under the direction of the Los Angeles County Council of the American Legion.

In addition to the grid classic there will be a National defense program featured by a gigantic military review and daylight fireworks display. With such a program arranged, there is every probability that upwards of 80,000 people will converge on the Coliseum Armistice Day.

The highlight of the football game is the fact that three star Alhambra high graders, Johnny Petrovich, Tharen Hodges and Chuck Petrie, have joined the 160th Infantry National Guard and will be playing for the Army on that day. Petrovich, Hodges and Petrie are well remembered because it was only a short time back that all three hit the headlines when they were denied the right to play football for USC UCLA or University of California.
