Streamline Revue
Opens Soon at Biltmore Hotel

Variety in a new, streamline, modern form is the rage of New York and other eastern cities. This new version is a variety revue, made up entirely of headliners, with a swift pace that offers just the type of clever, bright entertainment we all crave today.

On June 10, Fred Finklehoffa will present such a variety revue, "Show Time," at the Biltmore theatre, Los Angeles, with a group of brilliant stars heading the cast. George Jessel will be master of ceremonies for the show, while other headliners are Jack Haley, clever comedian of stage and screen, who seems to be "the Fatsy," Ella Logan, Scotch lass, who sings a "mean" song; Kitty Carlisle, operetta and drama star, and the De Marcos, famous from coast to coast as the country's outstanding ballroom team.

Featured with these stars will be Chuck Bubbles, Olsen & Shuler, Lorraine & Ashour and Con Colleano. There will be matinees as well as evening performances every day including Sunday, and two special performances on Saturday at 11:30 p.m. and on Sunday at 5:30 p.m.

Prices for the engagement will be from 10 cents to $5 for matinees and from 50 cents to $15 for evening performances, plus tax.

VICTORY VICTUAL

VICTORY VEGETABLES... Even vegetables are growing in patriotic designs and shapes these days. Like Deans, Standard Chrysanthemum at Victory House in Exchange Square, hub of the Los Angeles War Relocation Authority, here appears a Burbank potato which grew in the form of a victory V. Interesting shapes vegetables are the hobby.

'Jungle Book' Scenes Provide Many Thrills
A small boy perches on a high tree trunk over a sluggish river. At a signal from a whistle he hurtles into the water and starts swimming with all his might for the opposite bank. Suddenly out of a cove appears a giant crocodile speedily pursuing the tiny, skimming boy. Whispers on both banks hold their breath as the huge crocodile at first, it seems as though the lad is outswimming the crocodile by only a few feet. But after breathless moments, the boy wins the race. The heroic boy is Babu and the exciting moment is a scene in Alexander Korda's Technicolor production of Rudyard Kipling's "Jungle Book" which opens Saturday at the Plaza theatre in Hawthorne. The setting is the great man-made jungle which was constructed in Sherwood Forest, transformed to look like the woody, rock-bound terrain of India.

'Jungleland' Is Fine Animal Show

Sponsored by the Torrance Kiwanis Club, "Jungleland," an unusually interesting collection of wild animals—many of them having appeared in the new motion picture "Jungle Book"—is delighting children and adults alike. The show, next to the Allan Pauls's Equestrian Garage, is a percent of all receipts are being given by the show's operators to the city ambulance fund now being raised by the Kiwanis Club, according to Gaston Arco, club president.

"Jungleland" is not a carnival and has none of the objectionable features parents usually associate with such traveling shows. It is educational, having a large menagerie of animals including a nursery of young lions barely five weeks old. Courteous attendants are on duty at all times to answer questions about the animals and give interesting information as to where they came from and their living habits.

One ticket at 15 cents for children and 30 cents for adults admits the holder to the entire show, which will continue here thru Sunday.

Expect 30 for Auxiliary Patrol

Training of 30 Lomita men as state highway patrol auxiliaries will begin as soon as three more men are chosen, it was learned this week as 27 signed up for the instruction.

Training, in charge of state highway patrol officers, will prepare the new unit to assist in controlling Lomita Pacific Coast highway during blockouts and to handle any emergency traffic conditions that might develop in this area.

The California state council of defense and the state highway patrol are sponsoring the new unit.

END VACATION
Mr. and Mrs. Robert Foltz (Ethel Guyan) and daughters, Beverly Jean and Rosemary, returned Sunday from a week's vacation at Big Bear.

DINE IN LEMBERT PARK
Mrs. and Mrs. Joe Tavah enjoyed dinner Sunday evening at Scully's Lemberg Park cafe.
