Jim Wilkes Wins Steel Promotion

James R. Wilkes of 2463 Carson st., has been appointed foundry superintendent at the Columbia Steel plant, Otto Kress, general superintendent, announced late last week. Wilkes has been connected with the foundry department since September, 1926.

He succeeds Joe Zelenka who has been transferred to the new defense foundry at Pittsburg, Calif., Columbia Steel plant.

Coburn Anticipating Furlough in May

Now an instructor teaching aircraft engineers in the Army Air Force at Keesler Field, Miss., Robert H. Coburn is anticipating a May furlough, according to word received from him this week. After he was graduated from the B-24 mechanics' school at the Mississippi field, he was given the instructor's assignment.

Coburn says he expects to fly home in an Army cargo plane and be here May 16 or 24 hours after he leaves Keesler Field.

Letters from Home

Army and Navy officers all agree that letters from home are more important in maintaining the morale of troops, whether they be in training here or in action overseas, than any other factor. Good entertainment helps as an offset to military drudgery, too; good food helps; leaves, in that the men in the armed services can escape for a time from military routine, are important. But anyone who has ever watched soldiers and sailors when the mail arrives knows that what the man in service wants most is to hear from the folks back home and to know what is going on in the world he left behind him.

If you haven't written to that boy in the service from your house during the last day or two, it's time to do it, no matter how busy you may be, or how other things may crowd your attention. And if he's where you can send him a package of home-made food, or a carton of cigarettes, do that, too. But most of all, keep the letters from home rolling!

Wartime Fire Prevention Tips Outlined by County Fire Warden

With national defense now a watchword, home protection takes on an added significance, according to Spence D. Turner, county fire warden, who has issued a list of precautions for protecting your home against fire.

"Fire prevention should get top priority," said Turner. "When every resource of our country is needed to preserve our national safety, every fire, caused by carelessness, becomes an act of sabotage in war time."

Fire prevention tips for war time follow:

Remove all accumulated old papers, magazines and discarded garments from the house—cellar to attic.

Safeguard Matches
Burn such rubbish in an approved type incinerator, or if it is to be burned in the open, secure permit from nearest fire department and bear in mind that the Army Command does not want open fires burning between sunset and sunrise, and do not burn on street in county without permit. Provide metal waste baskets in every room in the house. Do not place paper or silk shades directly on electric lights. Check this item particularly in the case of the emergency blackout curtains you have rigged up. Don't allow the inflammable material to touch the bare light globe.

Check and possibly discard flexible rubber tubing on gas appliances—and look for gas leaks with soapsuds, NOT MATCHES. If it becomes necessary to shut off gas during a raid, call the gas company representative to turn it on again.

Keep matches in a glass jar, coffee can or metal container and out of the reach of children.

Drive car in gear in the garage. Should car catch fire, firemen could pull it out and save the garage, or should garage catch fire, the car may be saved.

Always have a fire extinguisher, a water pump can, or a garden hose ready for action and a ladder that will reach the roof.

Post fire department phone number (Torrance 23 and Lomita 263) in a conspicuous place near your telephone.

Narbonne Players Stage Mystery Comedy April 8

With a carefully selected cast the Narbonne high school dramatics class under direction of Paul Ferguson will present the amusing popular mystery play, "Arsenic and Old Lace" in the auditorium April 8. There will be two performances, at 1 p. m. for the student body, and for the public at 5 p. m. A nominal admission fee of 17 cents for the student show and 25 cents for the public will be charged.

The play, which has run to packed houses in the metropolitan centers of the country, has to do with two elderly sisters who have a mania for murder. To add to the interest, the pair has a mildly insane brother who is sure that he is Theodore Roosevelt and is engaged in digging the Panama Canal in the cellar.

JOINS HUSBAND

Mrs. Irwin H. Harris, nee Ella Levy, left last week to join her husband who is serving as a corporal at Warrenton, Va.

Medical Degree Will Reward Years of Study

Twelve years of work and study and sacrifice, during which he has maintained an unbroken record of all A grades and received many honors, will be rewarded April 10 for Robert P. Stock when he graduates from the school of medicine, Loyola University of Chicago, Ill.

When Stock entered senior high school at Narbonne in the depression year of 1932, it was with the ambition to become a doctor, and encouraged by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stock of 22430 Meyler st., Torrance, and by Miss Clementina de Forrest Griffin, Narbonne principal at that time, took a heavy course of studies to prepare for his future career, and worked after school and during every vacation to earn money to achieve his ambition.

He graduated with the winter class of 1934, with Epsilon and scholarship honors, which won him a scholarship to Loyola University at Los Angeles.

Further honors there enabled him to take a course in anatomy at the University of Vienna, after receiving his degree from the Los Angeles University, he entered the medical school of Chicago Loyola, where at the end of his second year, he was awarded a singular honor, permanent membership in the honorary seminar.

After graduation he will enter Cedars of Lebanon hospital at Los Angeles as an interne. His mother will attend her son's graduation and with him will visit friends in Detroit, Mich., before they return to California.

A student anxious to cultivate self-restraint can get plenty of practice sitting back of a disc or global hat in a movie show.

Since 1906, children from poor homes in Great Britain have received free meals at school.

MADAME CHIANG KAI-SHEK

China is fortunate, indeed, in having such a brilliant and personable goodwill ambassador as Madame Chiang Kai-shek to plead her cause with the American people. In her appearances in California, Mme. Chiang won her audiences, not only by the logic of her presentation, but by the sincerity and deep earnestness of her message.

She spoke not just for the brave people of China, but for all people, throughout the world who have suffered from tyranny and oppression—and who look forward to a day when human dignity and justice and decency will be honored and respected again in the society of nations.

In the years to come, China, in all likelihood, will emerge as one of the truly great powers of the post-war era. And the world is fortunate that China's great generalissimo and the First Lady of China have high idealism as well as courage to guide them and their people.

New Cereal Makes Delicious Cookies

Cookies for the lunch box, for extra wartime energy. With such persuasive demands, no wonder the cookie baking business is booming now in most American kitchens! And here, just when your cookie-making ideas may be running low, is a 1943 kind of cookie made with Fisher's Zoom, the new instant-cooking flaked whole wheat cereal.

Zoom Cookies

- 1 1/2 cups Fisher's blend flour
 - 1 teaspoon cinnamon
 - 1/2 teaspoon soda
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 cup shortening
 - 1 cup sugar
 - 1 egg
 - 2 cups Fisher's Zoom
 - 1/2 cup raisins or dates
 - 1/2 cup nuts, if desired
 - 1/2 cup milk
- Sift and measure blend flour. Resift with dry ingredients, excepting sugar and Zoom. Cream shortening until light; add sugar gradually, blending thoroughly. Add 1 teaspoon vanilla flavoring if desired. Beat egg until light; add to sugar-shortening mixture. Add flour mixture and then the Zoom. Stir in fruits and nuts, if used, and lastly add the milk. Drop from a teaspoon onto a well greased baking sheet. Bake in a 425 degree oven 15 to 20 minutes, or until done.
