Missionary from China Heard at Christian Church

Mrs. O. J. Goulter and her daughters Dorothy and Jean, are to be at the Christian church Sunday, Aug. 22 where she will occupy the pulpit at the 10:40 and the 7:30 services. Mrs. Goulter and her husband have spent more than 20 years in China as missionaries, their work being in and around Hobei.

With the invasion of the Japanese, Mrs. Goulter with their four daughters had to come home to America leaving her husband to carry on and administer help to the people he had come to serve. He was taken prisoner soon after Mrs. Goulter left and is now in a detention camp somewhere near Shanghai. Mrs. Goulter is a very charming and forceful speaker with many tales of the Chinese people to delight and entertain both young and old. The public is invited to hear this talented person.

REV. EDWARD J. OMARK, Los Angeles—"All post-war plans are doomed without real Christianity. The present world conflagration calls for a return to God."

War-Time Prayer For Bereaved

"Almighty God, who didst offer Thine only Son to be made perfect through suffering, and to win our salvation by enduring the cross; sustain with Thy healing power all those whose loved ones have given their lives in the service of our country. Redeem, we pray Thee, the pain of their bereavement, that knowing their loss to be the price of our freedom, they may remember the gratitude of the nation for which they gave so costly a sacrifice. And grant, O Lord, that we may highly resolve that these dead shall have not died in vain, and that of the agony of the present hour there may arise a new and better world in which Thy will shall rule, to the honor of Thy son, our Saviour, Jesus Christ.—Amen."

INDOOR DIMOUTS AREN'T NECESSARY!

Increased light can easily be yours—at no extra electricity cost and without new lamps. Your present lighting equipment can be made to give greater eye comfort and better vision.

TIPS for increasing light at no extra electric current cost or use

- Replacing dark lamp shades with light-colored ones, or relining them with lighter-colored material, is a sure way to obtain more light from your lamps. Dark shades absorb too much light—waste electricity you pay for.
- Be sure that lamps are high enough to throw full light on whatever you are reading or doing. Keep shades and globes free of light-robbing dust by cleaning them with a damp cloth regularly.

Waste in war is a crime . . . Do not waste electricity just because it is not rationed.

Quoted from a letter . . .

"My conscience hurts me today.

"When I was washing up before getting off the train this morning, I learned that six sailors and three soldiers had sat up all night. These men were making this trip under orders—yet there was no sleeping space available for them.

"When I think of the effort you of Southern Pacific, along with other railroads, are making to care for our service men—and then remember that I obtained a berth that should have gone to a service man—it humiliates me. I was due back for a War Bond meeting today and at the time it seemed important. But compared with taking accommodations away from soldiers and sailors my presence here was highly unessential.

"It has been a good lesson for me. Hereafter I shall travel only when I know I'm not depriving service men of sleeping space . . ."

How's YOUR conscience today?

The letter quoted here came from a western newspaper editor and publisher. This man has a conscience that can't be lulled to sleep by easy self-reassurances.

We hope many other prospective travelers will listen to the "still small voice" of their conscience when it asks questions like these:

How much business and how much pleasure are involved in the train trip I plan? Is it really important for me to visit those relatives back East this war year? Couldn't I get just as much rest and relaxation a little closer to home?

Today the railroad is hard-pressed to find space for essential travelers: People whose trip must be made to keep business and war production going . . . Service men on well-deserved furloughs, possibly the last before combat duty . . . Parents going to visit their son when the latter can't get away from his post. When people travel for pleasure, or other non-essential reasons, they prevent such deserving travelers from getting on the train. Yes, we sincerely mean it when we say: "Don't take the train unless your trip is really NECESSARY."
