

LONGREN AIRCRAFT STARTS BIG EXPANSION; PLANT IN VERNON WILL BE OPENED

Longren Aircraft Company of Torrance is in the midst of a big expansion program which will double the size of its Carson st. factory and bring about opening of plant No. 3 in Vernon. It was announced yesterday by Phillip Van Dyke, secretary of the firm.

The company has just completed the purchase of a lot 150 by 200 feet adjoining its factory on Carson st., and a building program is being prepared.

A three acre site at 4601 So. Sota st., Vernon, has been purchased, and buildings on the site soon will be utilized as an assembly plant for the Torrance factory which is engaged in a number of contracts under its "Stretch-Forming" patents for several airplane plants. The Vernon plant will be known as No. 3, plant No. 2 being in Hermosa Beach.

The No. 3 plant will be in operation about July 1, it was said, and will not affect the operation of the Torrance factory, Van Dyke said.

Negotiations for buildings on the Carson st. addition are now under way, he declared, and it is expected that the new site will be in full use within a few months.
