CAP Command Changes In Air Field Fight

hundreds of dollars on a plan to privately operate the field.
Asked if he was withdrawing from the field, Perkins said he still has an airplane there, and upon inquiry said he is not paying any tie-down nor storage fees. He said that he does not expect to pay such fees until the legal right of some agency to collect the fee is established.
Meanwhile, on the statement of the Third Group, C. A. P., statements have been issued to owners of the 100 or so planes on the field for tie-down and hangar space. However, the statements are reported to direct that checks be paid to the Administrative Squadron, or the private Lomita firm which claims to have a lease on the field. The statements ask for $10 a month for C.A.P. members and $15 a month for non-members. Hangar space is $25 a bay.
It was said that Perkins as representative of the Third Group had refused to recognize the lease purported to have been issued by the U.S. Engineers on a five-year basis, payable quarterly, to the Lomita business firm. Thereupon orders were issued to reorganize the Third Group, and the change in command followed, it was reported at the field.

The second quarterly rent, due March 19, may or may not have been accepted by the government, but Torrance plans to secure full control of the field are progressing with the aid of Rep. Cecil R. King.
The C.A.P. is reported to have sent a report back to Washington, criticizing the ability of Torrance to operate the airport, in view of the city's financial condition.

However, another high aviation authority is reported to have said that there is no reason for the Civil Air Patrol to exist at this time, as it was formed to provide means of flying for civilians during war time, and present Air Force reserve and National Guard air programs now can satisfy these needs of those qualified to fly.
Representative King informed the Torrance Aviation Commission that the activities of Holmes were being investigated by War Department officials.
Holmes' private activities have been directed against the interests of the municipality in claiming the airport in order of priority which has been established by the government. Torrance is third in priority rights, but now west since other agencies have disclaimed any right to the airport.

It was said that if the airport were to be privately operated, the rental on the field would be in excess of $5,000 a month, under ordinary conditions, and each place and operator on the field would be liable to municipal taxes and license fees.
Furthermore, it was said, there is friction among operators there as to who has rights to sell gasoline and other supplies to aviators, and that the lack of maintenance has resulted in signs that the giant, 6000-foot landing strip is breaking up.

HAVE ACCELERATOR FREED
When the accelerator sticks have it freed at once. Underlubrication at its various points of anchorage or deficient spring tension sometimes makes it stick slightly. While it can be pulled up with the side of the shoe, no matter how skillful one is in freeing it there are times when failure is inevitable and punishment is inflicted on transmission gears.

V.F.W. NOTES

By ART LEIGHTON

A drive for membership renewals has been launched by the Torrance post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and according to Drive Chairman Al Widner is swiftly gathering momentum. This drive, says Widner, is for the sole purpose of regaining the membership that it has lost in the past year.
It cannot be overly stressed that the life blood of any organization is its membership and this is especially so in a veterans organization. The veteran is in vital need of organization to press his needs before the public and before governing bodies. The veteran needs organization to keep reminding the people of the sacrifices he was called upon to make for the protection of these same people and the governing bodies that now seek to set aside the promises that now seem to be nothing but pacifiers.
This drive is to bring back the membership that is so vital to organization and especially an organization that is so vital to its membership.

STREAMS TO BE STOCKED
Fish hatcheries in Los Angeles county are planning to stock streams that have been fished out. This should improve fishing, which has been rather slow throughout the county.

NO BARE FEET

Some Chinese women consider it extremely immodest to show their artificially compressed feet and it is even considered improper to mention them to such a woman, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.
