

HARBOR DENTIST TELLS OF TRANSPLANTING TEETH

A prominent harbor area dental surgeon, well known in Torrance and surrounding areas, has announced the successful transplanting of human teeth from one jaw socket to another for the first time in recorded medical history, it was revealed this week.

With only two failures, Dr. Harland Apfel, of San Pedro, declared that he had transplanted teeth on 33 patients.

Six of the patients have solid, newly grown teeth on which they have been chewing for more than a year, Dr. Apfel said. Twenty-five others have transplanted teeth in various stages of growth with every hope that they will be entirely successful.

Dr. Apfel told the second annual meeting of the University of California Dental College Alumni Association that his process consists of transplanting the "buds" of wisdom teeth to fill the gaps left by the loss of regular first molars. At present it is successful only on patients between 12 and 19 years of age.

The average person has four wisdom teeth—and sometimes other extra buds in his jaws. Dr. Apfel said all of these now constitute a potential supply of "spares."

Chamber Asks Action On Poker; Council's Pay

oil had previously indicated that this would be done."

As the three issues, initiated by the Citizens Committee organized by the Chamber, were presented to the council Tuesday night by Rippy, there was mild consternation among several council members, broken only when Councilman W. H. Tolson moved that some action should be taken immediately to place the City Manager proposition on the April ballot.

As if to break the spell, the council acted at once to refer the matter to the proper authorities for placing the City Manager plan before the people on April 13.

Members on the council then declared that the anti-gambling and salary matters "should be discussed" before action.

Chamber President Rippy said that his group should know the attitude and action of the Council in time to circulate necessary petitions to place the matters on the ballot if the council does not do so on its own motion.

Tolson moved that they go on the ballot, but did not get a second to his motion. Instead, Mayor J. Hugh Sherfy Jr. suggested a 15-minute recess. The recess was not taken.

Councilman C. M. Gilbert told President Rippy that he wanted to see the proposed amendment on the anti-gambling matter in writing, and it was read as proposed. Gilbert and Sherfy asked for names of sponsors of the amendment, but they were not immediately available.

Mayor Sherfy injected the idea that the requirements of the anti-gambling ordinance now are provided by law, and Rippy replied that while the state law might provide for the matter, the City can make it a municipal law by amendment to the City Charter. Rippy said that he was not asking the decisive action of the Council but that the Chamber wants to know its intent.

Grover C. Whyte, publisher of the Torrance Herald and a Chamber director, said that Santa Monica had passed such an ordinance to prevent horse-racing in that city and had accomplished this feat successfully. Since, he said, it has been proved, such an enterprise is not an asset to any community.

Sherfy declared that the matter of the anti-gambling question had not been discussed by the council, although three of the four then members of the council had agreed in October to present the ordinance to the people for vote.

Councilman Gilbert said that the matter could not be discussed in "15 minutes," but the council needs time to discuss the proposed amendments with attorneys before action is taken.

Mayor Sherfy said that the Council would like to grant the Chamber the courtesy of its request, but that it could not do so at the time, without further study.

Councilman A. L. Jackson said that the council apparently is not ready to take action on the gambling matter. "You all know I am opposed to gambling," he added. Sherfy recollected that in the last councilmanic election both Sherfy and Jackson were committed publicly to an anti-poker parlor platform.

Rippy told the council that the Chamber is not asking for an expression of the stand, but whether or not the council is willing to put on the ballot without petitions the question of operation of public poker parlors in Torrance and the question of the payment of $50 a month salaries to the council members.

"Do you want the people to take a vote on these matters?" Rippy asked. "You will save the cost of advertising and circulation of petitions by placing them on the ballot on your own motion."

Gilbert said that he thought the council should study them until the next meeting Feb. 10, and Jackson remarked that referring the matter for decision at the Feb. 10 meeting would "give us time" to decide.

The council then adjourned, and the meeting of the Chamber directors resulting in the action to circulate the initiative petitions followed within a few minutes.
