Knife Foils Petite Bowler

Eva "Toots" Yarbrough, petit feminine bowler who writes "Tenpin Topics" for this newspaper, entered the Torrance Memorial hospital at 4:30 a.m. Feb. 10, where she underwent an appendectomy. The ardent bowler had entered the hospital last Saturday but was released upon her own request so that she would be able to bowl in a coming tournament in San Francisco. So serious about bowling is the diminutive ten-pinner, that she even objected to hospital attendants using her bowling finger for the purpose of taking a blood count.
