National Fuchsia Society Show Is Set For June 19-20

"Jewels of the shade" will be the theme of the National Fuchsia Society Show to be held in Pasadena at Brookside Park, June 19 and 20.

Probably the largest collection of fuchsia and other shade plants ever shown will be exhibited, and the two day show will be an outstanding event showing massive displays of begonias, African violets, epiphyllums and bush and basket types of fuchsias. One fuchsia garden alone will be 80 feet long.

Exhibits from various fuchsia societies are expected to fill the patio of the Fannie E. Morrison Horticultural Center, and each one will be a shade garden with a different theme.

For the best exhibit a large gold trophy standing three feet tall and known as the Mary and Jim Fairlo Trophy will be awarded.

Four large buildings will be used for the show, with a mass display of flowers, exhibits from garden clubs of entire shade gardens in full size, and the shade plant entries of amateurs from Santa Barbara to San Diego. Admission is fifty cents, open both days from ten in the morning till ten in the evening.

Following the reception Mr. and Mrs. Goddard left for a honeymoon trip to Grand Canyon and Bryce and Zion National parks. They will be at home to their friends at 740 W. Ocean avenue.

Former Residents Note 66th Wedding Anniversary In May

Mr. and Mrs. William Wilcox, of Paradise, California, and formerly of this city, where they made their home for 14 years, celebrated their 66th wedding anniversary recently with a "no host" dinner given in a Paradise restaurant.

Civic leaders were introduced by the master of ceremonies before homage was paid the celebrants. The pair have lived in Paradise for the past decade and despite their ripe age, are active in various circles. Mr. Wilcox is a leader in the local grange, a director of the Paradise Benefit Association and active in the Masonic lodge. Both are also active in church work.

"We have known each other for as long as we can remember," Mr. Wilcox sighed happily, and went on to tell of romance that blossomed even without the couple realizing it when they lived as neighbors on the banks of Indian River in Croghan, Louis County, New York.

The couple moved to California more than a quarter of a century ago, and like most transplanted Easterners, are among the state's strongest boosters. In addition to close friends and immediate members of the family, guests included leaders of many of the representative organizations in Paradise.

Responding to the toasts, Mr. Wilcox attributed the long and happy union to hard, honest work and "good home cooking."

Frances Buckley OES Grand Officer Is Accorded Honor

Frances Buckley, deputy grand matron of the 76th district, State of California, Order of the Eastern Star, paid her official visit to her own Torrance Chapter No. 330, last Thursday evening. Edna Babcock, worthy matron and Vincent Viellenave, worthy patron, presided at the meeting which opened in full ritualistic form.

Escorted to the east by Julius Loure, marshal, the deputy grand matron was lovely in a beautifully designed floral print gown complemented by rhinestone costume jewelry and she carried an arm bouquet of antheriums and lemon leaves, tied with an exquisite ribbon bow of aqua which harmonized with her gown.

Candidates receiving the degrees of the Order were Edna and Alvin Crawford, Alice Reed, Robert Faren, Elsie Peterson and Dorothy Moore.

Presentations were made by Worthy Matron Edna Babcock and Mildred Edwards, associate matron. Their gifts included a miniature friendship bridge with diminutive rickshaw and a tiny pergola.

Gathered to honor the deputy grand matron were present worthy matrons and patrons Ardis Haynes, San Pedro; Emily Sue Duncan, Point Fermin; Gertrude Stickle, Carnation; Bonnis Moss, Playa Linda and Clarence Cartwright, Wilmington Chapters.

Also present were 11 past matrons and eight past patrons from Torrance Chapter, and 21 past matrons and 13 past patrons for the district and out-of-state, in addition to a very large attendance of other visitors and chapter members.

At the close of the ceremonies, members and guests retired to the banquet room where a Chinese motif was effectively followed accentuated by the use of exotic figurines and colorful Chinese fans. Colors of pink and blue predominated as the background for the cleverly artful decorations. Chow mein, rice cakes and tea comprised the menu.

Another auspicious occasion for Deputy Grand Matron Frances Buckley was her recent official visit to Wilmington Chapter, No. 459, Jo Hostetter, worthy matron and Clarence Cartwright, worthy patron, presiding. A large number of Tor-
