ANDERSON-THIENHAUS EXCHANGE ALTAR VOWS

On a honeymoon trip to San Francisco and other Northern California cities are James Clyde Anderson and his bride, the former Miss Joan Thienhaus of Belmont Shore.

The popular couple exchanged vows Sunday afternoon in a ceremony in Nativity Catholic Church attended by more than 200 family members and friends. Rev. Father Edward Sullivan officiated at the impressive rites. Tall baskets of large white chrysanthemums decorated the sanctuary and formed an effective background for the ceremony.

The former Miss Thienhaus is a daughter of Mr. Harold Thienhaus of 5300 Vista street, Belmont Shore and Mrs. Verne G. Barlow of Palm Springs and formerly of Torrance. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Anderson of 1188 Maple street.

Given in marriage by her father, the lovely bride chose as her wedding attire a dressmaker suit of gray winter sheer with which she wore sapphire accessories. She carried lilies of the valley with a detachable corsage of white orchids.

Mrs. William Darling, also wearing a gray suit and carrying an arrangement of pink roses, was the bride's only attendant. Joseph Anderson attended his brother as best man and ushers were Wilson Woodburn, Harold Treize and Paul Smith. Miss Joy Oursler presided over the guest book.

At the reception in American Legion clubhouse, which immediately followed the ceremony, Mrs. Barlow received in steel gray crepe with contrasting accessories and an orchid corsage. Mrs. Anderson wore rose beige crepe, brown accessories and an orchid corsage and Mrs. Thienhaus chose a beige suit with brown accessories and an orchid.

Family members and intimate friends of the couple later were entertained at a buffet supper at the home of the bridegroom's parents.

Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Anderson will establish their home on Andree avenue.

Both young people were graduated from Torrance High School and during World War II, the bridegroom served in the Pacific with the United States Navy. He is associated in business with Hartley E. Carr in the operation of Carr and Anderson service station.
