CO-OWNER OF PLUMBING COMPANY WINS AWARD

Top-flight salesmanship and aggressive merchandising brought honors recently to James P. Montague of the Torrance Plumbing Company, 1418 Marcelina avenue, in the third quarter finals of the national "Court of Flame" water heater sales campaign.

Montague, co-owner of the Torrance plumbing concern with Fay L. Parks, placed ninth in the western region, composed of California and five other western states, when the final tally of third quarter results was announced.

The "Court of Flame," a national sales effort sponsored by the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association, is designed to urge the wider use of automatic gas water heating, properly sized to adequately meet all hot water needs. MacMahon stated. He also said that Montague is still in line for the awards to be made in the fourth quarter and for the national prizes to be awarded at the end of the year's campaign. The contest is cumulative from quarter to quarter toward the annual prizes which include two Super Buick Sedans.

Church Unit Planned

Building permit for the construction of a $4000 Sunday school building last week was granted to the First Baptist Church, 1711 Martina avenue, by the building inspector's office.
