

NATURE'S WAY... While Los Angeles smog experts mull and ponder over the problem of how to rid the city of its eyesmarring aerial attacker, Mother Nature solved the problem easily and quickly with a light rain fall late last week. Pilots would label this weather phenomenon as "VACU"—Visibility and Ceiling Unlimited. Photo was taken from the Palos Verdes Hills and shows snow-capped Mt. Baldy 48 miles in the distance (as the crow flies). —Herald photo.

STREET LIGHT FUND STARTED

A campaign to raise $2040 for street lights was recently launched by residents of the Torrance Manor tract of new homes in North Torrance. The funds would provide 34 standards in the area, according to City Manager George W. Stevens. In the planning stage also is a proposal to provide lights for the Hollywood Riviera area, Stevens said. He praised the local club and Kiwanis International for the part they were playing in combating Communism through the distribution of eight million leaflets on Americanism now being distributed throughout the nation.

To Build Home

Permission from the city building inspector's office to build a five-room $8600 home at 1332 Via la Ciruela last week was granted to Lomar Bonnette.

ESKIMO PIE JINGLE WINS FOR WOMAN

While other poets starve in garrets, Mrs. William Garley of 2707 Sonoma avenue has made her skill with the iambic-pentameters pay off. Mrs. Garley is now the proud owner of a polaroid "picture-a-minute" camera, the valuable prize offered by a dairy product company, to ten top winners each month in a two-month jingle contest extolling Eskimo Pies. Mrs. Garley's entry nosed out thousands of hopeful rhymerists who competed in the two contests.

City Studies Park Expansion

A survey of 28 lots adjacent to the El Retiro Park in the Hollywood Riviera district is to be made by city officials following recent action of the city council to expand the park area. Written valuation estimates from property owners will be sought on the south, east and west sides of the recreation area. City Manager George Stevens said he had contacted real estate brokers in the area who estimated that the lots would cost about $1000 each.
