New Adult Class Teaches Rules Of Major Sports

Designed to teach the rules of all the major sports, and to give students simple participation in them, a new, free, series of classes for adults will open on Monday night, October 9, at the Torrance Evening High School Gym, at 7 o'clock.

Coach Rex Welch, who will handle the series each Monday night, will feature on October 9 instruction in badminton. He will show students how to play the game, the elementary skills involved, techniques of serving, game strategy, how to improve one's game, how to keep score.

Welch's idea in badminton is not only to show people what the rules of the game are, but to have them actually play it themselves. "From now on," said Welch, "you can take home your knowledge of the badminton game and play it on your own lawn during week-ends or early evenings—it is a big thrill to play one of America's fastest growing sports."

Basketball instruction and active participation will be a second feature of the class on October 9. For succeeding Monday nights, Welch plans for October 16 a clinic on boxing, in which he will bring to Torrance High Ed Slattery, former Golden Gloves competitor. Welch will follow up with other popular sports, including football, skiing, golf and baseball. This series of clinics will be held in addition to the mixed men and women's physical fitness classes held each Tuesday and Thursday by Coach Cliff Graybehl.

Students planning to join this free clinic or Coach Graybehl's classes are asked to go directly to class to register, at the Torrance Evening High School Gym.
