Torrance Welcomes....

Mr. and Mrs. George Baskin have moved into their new home at 3213 West 190th street. Formerly of Hawthorne, both Mr. and Mrs. Baskins are employed at Northrup Aircraft.

Moving, with them are two sons, Bill, 19, and Darryl, 8, and a daughter, Beverly, 17.

Former Los Angeles residents Mr. and Mrs. George W. Clay, have recently moved in at 1115 Fonthill avenue here.

Mrs. Clay is now working with her mother and brother at Mom and Don's Bar-B-Q restaurant. Mr. Clay has been employed by the Long Beach Oil Development Co.

The Clays say that Torrance "is the only town for us."

Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Grenow have moved to 1304 Beech avenue here from their former address at 3931 Torrance boulevard. Grenow has been employed at the Roger Jessup Farms for the past 16 years.

Another Torrance family who has changed its address is Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Hendrickson, who now live at 1621 Creechshaw boulevard. Hendrickson has worked for the Torrance Brass Foundry since 1937.

Newcomers to Torrance are Mr. and Mrs. Galen A. Truedell Jr., formerly of Bellflower. The couple, with their 7-month-old son, Scott Craig, are now living at 1005 Felbar avenue.

Truedell is employed by Vegetable Oil Products Co. They say they moved here because they just "like Torrance."

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Heath have moved into a home at 923 Korbblum avenue from their former residence in Santa Monica. They have two children, Michael, 7, and Nancy, 4. Heath is employed by Northrup.

A newlywed couple, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Rodriguez, formerly of Wilmington, have set up housekeeping at 17315 Delia avenue here. Married only two months, the couple says they are happy to return to their old home town.

Rodriguez is employed by the Columbia Steel Co., while his wife works for the Redondo Tile Company.

GP Setting Pace in 1951-52 Tax Derby

A tidy $353,311 was dropped into the tills of four taxing authorities in Torrance last Tuesday by the General Petroleum Corporation.

R. J. Plomert, General Petroleum's tax representative, delivered a check for $1,493,369 to tax collector H. L. Byram at the Hall of Justice in Los Angeles. It covered the corporation's first installment of 1951-52 taxes on Los Angeles County mining rights, real estate, improvements and personal property.

Over one-third of the total of this whopping check was for taxes on General Petroleum's

Arizona Student Returns After Holiday Visit

Hal Laudeman, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Laudeman, 1304 Greenwood avenue, returned to school last week following a holiday visit here.

A Sigma Nu pledge, Hal is enrolled in College of Fine Arts, University of Arizona.

Torrance refinery and other Torrance property.

Here's how the Torrance taxing authorities fared out of the total:

Torrance Unified School District	$202,187
City of Torrance	97,207
El Camino Junior College District	52,076
Torrance Municipal Water District No. 2	1,541
Total	$353,311

Other taxing authorities including the Los Angeles County General Fund, the County Flood Control District, Sanitation District No. 5, and the Metropolitan Water District— took—another $191,545 in taxes on General's Torrance properties.

A TIDY SUM . . . Showing a General Petroleum check in the amount of $1,493,369 is pretty Paulette Green, a messenger in the corporation's Los Angeles offices. The check represents the oil company's first installment of its 1951-52 taxes. Paulette estimated that the check would cover her salary for just over 700 years—before taxes, that is.

Home Gardening Course to Open

A practical and personal course in home gardening and landscaping with instruction in planting roses, fruit and citrus trees, and tips on pest control, fertilization, and plant foods will be held each Tuesday evening at the Torrance High School starting December 11, it was announced here this week.

Designed for home owners with little or no background in gardening, the course should be especially helpful to the owners of new homes in the area, according to Donald Manahaw, director of the Adult School of Education.

The class will meet at 7 p.m. each Tuesday, and admittance is free to any adult. Those interested may register for the course by attending the class.

Instructor of the class will be Loring L. Bigelow, state director of the California Association of Nurserymen and president of the Centinea chapter of the association. He is a licensed landscape contractor in the state and is widely known as a rose specialist.

The subject of soils in the new home tracts around the area will be given special attention, Manahaw said.
