

FORTY-SECOND BIRTHDAY CELEBRATED ... Total ages of the four smiling lassies, Janet Sawyer and Gayle Hoy, seated, and LaVerne Lewis and Jackie Hoy, standing, just about equals the 42 years which the Campfire Girls are celebrating this week. Joined by their younger sisters, the Bluebirds, Campfire Girls Monday launched a week-long celebration all over the country in honor of the festive occasion. Theme of the anniversary is "Design for Friendship," with each youngster endeavoring to make better friends within her Campfire or Bluebird group as well as in the community. The picture was taken at the home of Mrs. William O. Hoy, 1635 W. 216th St., leader of the Campfire organization for the South Bay area. (Herald photo).

Design for Friendship Is Campfire Birthday Theme

"Design for Friendship" is the theme chosen for the 42nd birthday celebration this week of Campfire Girls and Blue Birds, younger sisters of the Campfire members, throughout the country.

Groups within the Los Angeles Area Council are joining in the national festivities. The celebration, which officially began Monday, is stressing the family's part in the activities of the Campfire organization. The program seeks to show girls the fun of sharing responsibilities in the home as well as pointing up to the family the possibilities of shared leisure time.

Last week-end was Church Week-end for members of Campfire Girls and Bluebirds. Girls attended churches and synagogues of their choice, carrying out the first Campfire law, Worship God.

Special efforts are being made this week to help the girls widen their own local circle of friends and extend this friendship to other countries through service and correspondence.

Campfire Girls, a national organization for young women seven to 18 years of age, welcomes all girls to the program regardless of race, religion or economic background. Trained volunteer leadership guides them toward adult responsibility in the home and the community. Mrs. William O. Hoy of 1635 W. 216th St. is head of the Campfire organization for the South Bay.

Scouts Honor Troop Leader At Barbecue

Girl Scout Troop 1161, sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's Club of Torrance, recently had a barbecued chicken dinner honoring Mrs. J. E. Laskaris, co-leader of the troop, who is leaving.

Mrs. Laskaris has been with the troop over two years. The dinner also honored Mrs. W. Benner, who is taking her place. Connie Walton, a new member, was welcomed during the evening.

The dinner was held in the rumpus room of the leader, Mrs. W. H. Wood. The chicken was barbecued over an open fire by the girls, adding to the fun of the occasion. Those attending were Mrs. W. H. Wood, Mrs. J. E. Laskaris, Mrs. W. Benner, Connie Walton, Dana Cecil, Connie Benner, Peggy Wood, Joy Pearman, Judy Wright and Joan Laskaris.

WCTU Rally To Be Held In Torrance

SPRING BENEFIT TO FEATURE MUSIC OF HARRY JAMES

Harry James, his trumpet and his famous Music Makers will come to the South Bay April 5 for the Spring Benefit Dance sponsored by San Pedro Junior Woman's Club.

Picturesque Hollywood Riviera Club in Redondo Beach will be the setting for the event, which is being given to raise money for the Muscular Dystrophy Association. Mrs. Edgar Kell is serving as general chairman of the dance, assisted by Mrs. Anthony Nizetich, tickets; Don Walker, decorations; Joseph Spangenberg, publicity; Robert Warren, posters and Jack Brown, letters.

Need of a Woman's Christian Temperance Union in Torrance will be the subject of Rev. Clarence E. Miller when he addresses a temperance rally this afternoon at 1:30 in First Methodist Church, 1620 Manuel Ave.

Pastors of several other churches have been invited to speak on the subject. Mary Ruckle of Long Beach, a WCTU worker for the past quarter of a century, will discuss building a better world through total abstinence.

Civic Group Elects Board

Cecil Motett was elected 1952-53 president of the Del Amo Civic Association at the group's meeting last month. Chosen to serve with Motett were C. Morrill, vice-president; Mrs. A. Johnston, secretary-treasurer, and L. Jensen, trustee.

The group expressed its appreciation to the outgoing president, J. Meskel, and other retiring officers, W. Stuart, Mrs. Helen Knight and their committees. During the past year this board drew up the charter and by-laws for the association, and took out petitions for improvements in the area which are currently being considered by the Los Angeles City Council.

Next meeting of the association has been set for March 28.

Bridge, Book Section Meetings of AAUW Told

Two section meetings of San Pedro branch, American Association of University Women, have been announced by Mrs. Gilbert B. Meyers, president.

HARLINE PAINTINGS SHOWN AT LIBRARY

An exhibit of water color paintings by Carolyn Harline, Torrance High School junior, will be on display at the Torrance Library through March 30. This first showing of Miss Harline's work has been taken largely from a collection done during her sophomore year at the school. Included are many landscapes of Northern and Southern California.

BPW Fetes THS Seniors During Dinner

National "Girls Week" was commemorated Monday evening at the Business and Professional Women's Club dinner in the Torrance YWCA.

Senior students at Torrance High School who participated in the club's activities last week were guests of honor. Each spent a day in the business place of a BPW member.

Introduced by Mrs. Sabina Abramson of National Home Appliance was Shirley York. Mrs. Virginia Beck of La Tienda Gift Shop sponsored Sally Hayakawa and Mrs. Janet Bolinger of North Torrance Elementary School sponsored Anne Stephens. Barbara Mondor was introduced by Mrs. Clara Conner, postmaster, and Georgia Turnage was introduced by her sponsor, Mrs. Anna Sandstrom of Torrance National Bank.

Each of the students reported on her activities during the day she visited a place of business. Mrs. Joanna Garver, girls' counselor at Torrance High, thanked the BPW for making it possible for her students to observe the practical side of business.

Several musical numbers were presented by the Girls Glee Club from Torrance High. Corsages were presented the honored guests by Mrs. Bolinger. Also visiting was Mrs. Dorothy Boyle of the Michigan BPW, a public health nurse.

Two forthcoming events were

Walteria Stresses Need For Additional Boy Scout Leaders

Scouting, with all its benefits to the youth of the community, cannot continue in Walteria without the assistance of older men to serve as troop leaders.

A meeting will be held March 28 in Walteria Elementary School, following the session of Cub Pack 240-C, to enlist the services of men wishing to take the Scout leadership course and devote a small amount of time to working with boys.

Boy Scout field workers are hoping to establish a new troop in the Walteria area, but are unable to complete organizational plans without having additional leaders.

Further details may be obtained by calling Bob Schraubem, Lomita 1116-W.
