

Grammar School Studies Show Cost of Freedom

These two editorials were written by eighth-grade students at Hollywood Riviera School as a part of class study of man's desire for freedom through the ages. The purpose of the historical background, according to Victor U. Kilburn, teacher of the class, was to give the children an appreciation of our government and the freedom we enjoy, which have been handed down only after much hardship and fighting. From these beginnings the class will progress to a study of how our government actually works. The project is not unique but representative of what is being done in classes throughout Torrance city schools.

Throughout the many generations, men have fought for their freedom. Without freedom, this world would be cruel, unjust, and full of tyranny.

The colonists had their freedom snatched away from them by the king. They did not have freedom of the press, or the right to say, think, and do as they wished. This caused hatred among men which led to wars, cruel fighting, and bloodshed.

When the colonists finally wrote their Declaration of Independence they stated clearly that men should have the right to "Life, Liberty, and Pursuit of Happiness."

Today, we enjoy these freedoms and many others. We enjoy freedom of speech, the press, and freedom to worship in our own way. We also have the freedom to choose our friends, occupations, and education.

The right to have fun, vote, and think as we please are other privileges we enjoy. Today, parts of our world are still spread with cruelty, but men will always keep on fighting for freedom.

SANDRA BEAIRD,
Eighth grade

The many freedoms we in America enjoy are certainly worth fighting for, at least the colonists thought so when they fought for freedom in 1776. They sacrificed their homes, families, and sometimes their lives so we, their descendants, would live in a free country and enjoy the many rights we do.

Today, many people forget the struggle for freedom that our forefathers had. But they and many others must fight for the freedoms of man.

In many foreign countries, the government is the extreme power. Men like Hitler, Mussolini, Stalin, and many others will run a country in such a way as to obtain their own wants—to run the world. So far, none have succeeded, for men standing up for the right to be free, fought back hard. It never was easy as much sweat and blood were shed.

But Americans think of it as a small price to pay for the freedom of our descendants. "Freedom is worth fighting for."

CAROL BRIER,
Eighth grade.

Mobile X-Ray Unit Due At El Camino Next Week

Plans to have a mobile X-ray unit stationed on the El Camino College campus early in March have been announced by Merl F. Sloan, director of student personnel.

The X-ray unit from the Los Angeles County Health Department, will be located on campus March 4 through 6, Sloan said. All members of physical education classes at the college will receive x-rays in a group. Other students and college personnel will also have an opportunity to have a free chest x-ray made, he added.
