gram—the Civil Defense Building on Torrance Blvd. near Western Ave and a Recreation Building at Torrance City Park.

They will have to present a formal request to the City Council for use of either building, however. The Civil Defense building is presently used for storage and night meetings, which would not interfere with a Day Care program.

When the mothers present their plan to the Board, the Board, in turn, will have it checked by the State to see if it conforms to regulations.

For an "off-campus" Day Care Center, mothers would have to provide their own transportation unless their children live within the distance specified by the School District to provide bus transportation.

'Right Of Way' Looks Different From Hospital Bed

"Go ahead, you've got the right of way!"

Whispered in your ear by the accident gremlin, these are the most famous last words of all. They generally precede many—too many—of all serious traffic accidents. And nearly 25 percent of all accidents, say insurance people, are caused by drivers who think they have the right of way—but don't.

Usually, the man who assumes he has the right of way is in a hurry—full of that impatience that makes us bull our way through to save a few seconds. Actually, "haste makes waste" is a proverb doubly applicable to driving—it wastes both lives and time.

It's been proved, too. A famous racing driver tried it not long ago. He made two 10-mile drives through city traffic—the first at the greatest possible speed, pushing lights, bending and breaking most traffic laws and the second over the same route, but driving carefully and observing all laws and the rules of courtesy.

Yet his "fast" trip saved less than 30 seconds over the one in which he observed all the laws!

Even if you saved ten times that by taking chances in bulling through against both law and courtesy—it just wouldn't be worth it! You'd be risking life and limb—yours and those of others—for next to nothing.

The right of way does you no good—if the other driver doesn't know you have it!
