

Additions Set At Alondra Park

Plans for a $143,225 structural and non-structural improvement program for Alondra Park during the current fiscal year of 1955-56 will be unfolded by Supervisor Kenneth Hahn at public ceremonies at Alondra on Aug. 3 at 3:30 p.m.

Three new-type redwood signs will be established at Alondra Park on that date by Supervisor Hahn, as he calls public attention to the contemplated improvements to be made by the Los Angeles County Department of Parks and Recreation.

One of the three signs will be specially for the Alondra swimming pool, which is one of the most popular in the state. On Sunday, July 17, 4,000 persons were admitted to the Alondra pool, which indicates its popularity.

Other Signs
The two other signs to be posted Aug. 3 will be on the Redondo Beach Boulevard and Manhattan Beach Boulevard frontages of Alondra Park, which contains 189 acres. It is the largest regional park under jurisdiction of County Parks and Recreation Superintendent Norman S. Johnson.

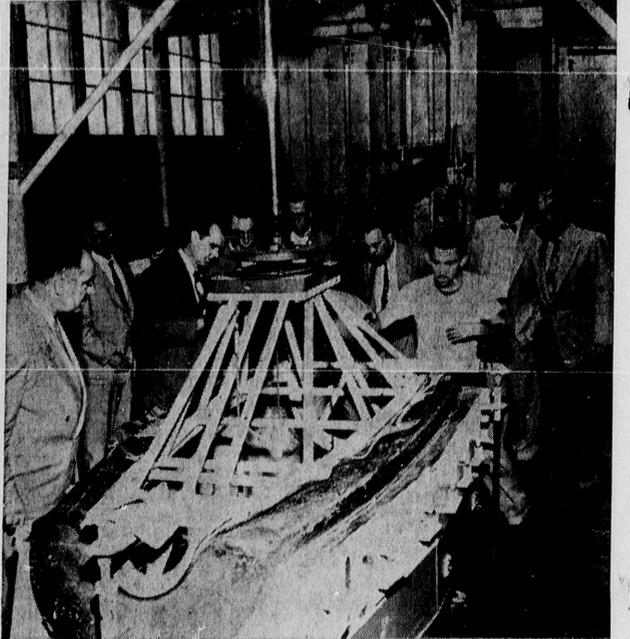

Alondra Park serves a populous area of southwestern Los Angeles County, including many cities and communities, Johnson said.

Baseball Diamond
Improvements expected to come during 1955-56 at Alondra would include a new standard baseball diamond, with night lights and bleachers; new facilities and beautification of area east of the lake for picnicking, with 10 new picnic stoves, new retaining lake wall, walks and lights, landscaping and sprinkler system, park lighting, launching area for model boats, new bridge to island; alterations to swimming pool, drainage, curbs, sidewalks.

Obituaries

Hans Olof Malmberg
Funeral services will be held tomorrow for Hans Olof Malmberg, 66, local real estate broker, at 2 p.m. in the First Baptist Church, with the Rev. Nathan Bond officiating. He died Saturday in a Gardena hospital.

A native of Sweden, he had lived five years in Torrance, where he was affiliated with William H. Tolson and Sons. He was a member of the Torrance, Lomita and Los Angeles Realty Boards and was affiliated with the First Baptist Church. He lived at 1103 Elm St.

He is survived by a son, Donald; daughter Olene Amy Halquist; two grandchildren, Donna Jean and Karen Olene Halquist, all of Torrance; and several brothers and sisters.

Burial will be in Green Hills, with Stone and Myers Mortuary directing.

Viola Lingle
Final rites for Mrs. Viola Lingle, 83, of 17310 Arlington Ave., will be held this week in Goreville, Ill.

A native of Illinois, Mrs. Lingle had lived with her son here for about two years. She died Friday in a Gardena hospital.

She is survived by her son, Osa R. Martin of Torrance; two brothers, Jesse C. Jones of Montana, and Philip S. Jones, of Goreville, Ill.; a sister, Mary E. Allen, of Torrance; and three grandchildren, William Earl, Gary R., and Donna C. Martin, all of Torrance.

Arrangements were handled by Stone and Myers Mortuary.

FOREST LANDS
More than one-third of the entire land domain of the U. S. is considered useful primarily for forests.

Newspapers Big Business

"The small town newspaper has become big business," F. S. "Bill" Haynes, publisher of the South Bay Daily Breeze at Redondo, told members of the Torrance Rotary club at their regular Thursday dinner meeting in the Women's club.

"When it is practically impossible to buy a new Linotype machine for less than $17,000, it gives one some idea of the costs of setting up and maintaining what, after all, is a real manufacturing plant," he commented.

Haynes, whose daily column on the front page of the beach area Copyex publication is widely read and enjoyed by the many subscribers of the Breeze, colored his casual address with numerous anecdotes gleaned from 27 years in the newspaper business. He was introduced by Attorney James M. Hall, program chairman.

Crash Victim Ex-Theater Manager

William Tallman, Jr., 38, former manager of the Stadium Theater, was on his way to his wife's bedside when he died Tuesday in an accident near Sellman, Ariz., the HERALD learned Saturday.

Erroneously reported as William Tallman by Arizona authorities, he had been manager of the local theater for about six weeks.

Business associates here say Mrs. Tallman became ill and returned to Pittsburgh, Pa., where she was to have undergone an operation. Tallman was heading east, after leaving his post here, at the time of his fatal accident.

Arizona police say Tallman, who was driving a 1949 model convertible, was killed when his vehicle crashed into a house trailer.

Ex-Opera Singer Works on Planes

Fileno "Ace" Acciavatti, 19609 Anza Ave., whose dreams of becoming an opera star in Italy never materialized, is grateful for his two years in the old country because it was there he met his wife, Rosina.

Ace was born in Quincy, Mass., and his first interest in a singing career grew out of his work for USO shows during World War II.

From 1946 to 1950, he studied at the Conservatory of Music in Boston. As a voice major, he sang baritone roles in many operas to gain experience. He often sang in local churches and is especially proud of his singing "The Seven Last Words of Christ" on Good Friday. Chorus work with the Boston-New England Opera Company rounded out his musical education.

After leaving the school, he sang small parts with De Filippo's Miami Opera Guild.

Studies in Italy
Late in 1950, Ace continued his studies in Italy where he gained much valuable experience, but little money.

He had one amusing experience while he was there.

"I was an understudy for the baritone in an opera company producing 'La Forza Del Destino,'" he said. "He was a huge man, weighing 260 pounds, with a 44 inch waistline, 6 feet 6 inches tall, and wore size 13 boots."

Ace weighs 200 pounds. He is 5 feet 7 inches tall, with a 34 inch waistline, and wears size 8 1/2 shoes.

Losses Voice
He was in the wings during the third act when the baritone suddenly lost his voice just before he was to sing a duet with the tenor.

"He rushed off the stage," Ace said, "and frantically tore off his costume so I could dress for the part."

"Despite the floppy boots, the sleeves hanging down below my wrists, and the over-size pants, I went out and sang 'In Solennis Quest Ora' with the tenor. It went over rather well," he said modestly, "despite my odd appearance."

Now at Douglas
With his savings gone, he returned to this country and eventually arrived in California where he received employment at the El Segundo Division of the Douglas Aircraft Company, Inc. He's now working on the pilot's enclosures for the A4D Skyhawk attack bomber.

As soon as he could, he sent for Rosina. They were married in this country and now have an eight months old son and live in a new home here. But he hasn't given up singing. In the near future, he plans to return to the demanding job of getting his voice back where it was a few years ago.

Flames Ruin Old School

A one-story frame building, used for nearly 50 years as a school, was destroyed Friday at Sepulveda Blvd. and Anza Ave.

Used for years as a school for Japanese-American children in the area, the structure may have burned as the result of children playing with matches, firemen reported.

At almost the same hour, more than 50 acres of brushland near the Torrance Police Pistol range were consumed by flames. Located east of Madison St., the fire was brought under control before it reached the range.
