

South Bay Adult Class Lists Ready

Residents of the Torrance area are invited to write or telephone for the fall schedule of classes for adults available in the South Bay Union High School District.

Many classes which were popular in the past will be repeated and several new ones have been added, according to Al Applegate, director of the program.

New class offerings include basic electronics, Spanish for travel, pastry art, sewing for beginners, drawing and design, Civil Service review, textile painting, military, tool design, interior decoration on literature, psychology, and current history.

A complete schedule and instructions for registration may be obtained by calling FRont: ler 8-8421.

College Bound Choose Sturdy, Smart Luggage

College luggage is a major investment which will travel with the student for four years, and frequently on through a wedding or the start of a career.

Like a college wardrobe, luggage owned by a boy or girl is a "prestige" possession which should never be borrowed from friends or culled from an assortment in the attic.

Girls will find three basic pieces fill the bill for trips of any length; starter sets could include a travel case or fitted cosmetic case, a weekend or overnight bag, and a pullman or wardrobe case.

Garment Carriers Useful For boys, the one suitcase bag is most popular, paired with a matched companion bag for accessories or overnight use.

Both boys and girls find use for traveling garment carriers and matching duffles and zipper bags.

Fashion plays a big role in the luggage chosen for college; high colors are smart, and yet easy to keep sparkling fresh because of new fabric and plastic finishes which resist soiling and wipe clean with a damp cloth.

Girls have a choice of bright or pastel colors—even gay plaids which are a cinch to spot in a crowded waiting room. Boys still like the traditional ginger and suntan, but charcoal, navy and sometimes smart tweeds are seen.

A large, flat packing trunk takes care of heavy items such as books, winter coats, room accessories and sports equipment. The student arranges for the trunk to be sent ahead so that it is waiting in the dorm when he or she arrives.

Provides Extra Storage Frequently the trunk also serves as an extra seat or under-bed storage.

Fiber or aluminum laundry cases are the answer to laundry which must be sent home regularly; the telescoping feature of the lid accommodates as little or as much clothing as the student needs. Laundry cases are always made to meet post office specifications for economical parcel-posting to and from school.

Check of Eyes Deemed a Must

A complete visual examination before a child begins or resumes school work may mean the difference between a star pupil and a problem child, according to Dr. Robert E. Bannon of the American Optical Company's Bureau of Visual Science.

"Don't depend on school vision tests entirely," he advises. "They are not intended to take the place of a thorough professional eye examination."

And because a child has a visual problem, he adds, it does not necessarily mean that he must wear glasses, or at least not continuously. Visual training is now a highly developed science and a wide range of instruments and devices are available to doctors and their patients.

One new training device actually utilizes home television. Similarly new type lenses have eliminated use of old eye patches once used in visual training.

Some symptoms of visual deficiency for which parents should watch, says Dr. Bannon, are frowning, blinking, squinting, irritability and lack of interest in reading, shutting one eye, tilting the head, headaches, eye aches and complaints of blurred or double vision.

"If your child does need glasses," he said, you need not worry about his breaking them and getting a splinter in his eye because break resistant glass and plastic lenses may now be obtained."
