

PONTIAC'S NEW MODEL... Pontiac introduces this year the 1956 Star Chief Custom Catalina "hard-top" four-door sedan. Built on a 124-inch wheelbase, the new car is powered with a 227 h. p. Strato-Streak V-8 engine and equipped with the new Strato-Flight Hydra-Matic transmission. The "hardtop" also is available in 870 and 800 series.

Twin Pontiac to Display New 1956 Models Tomorrow

Pontiac introduces another first—a completely new development in automatic transmissions, it was announced by the Pontiac Twins, Richard and Robert Greenwald, Owners of Twin Pontiac, 505 Pacific Coast Hwy., Hermosa, who will show the "all-new" 1956 General Motors masterpiece tomorrow which features the Strato-Flight Hydra-Matic transmission.

R. M. Critchfield, Pontiac general manager, said, "We are proud to be the first to bring this important new controlled fluid coupling Hydra-Matic transmission to the buying public. It is smoother, quieter, cooler running and more efficient than any transmission ever offered. Coupled with our 227-horsepower 1956 Strato-Streak V-8 engines, the revolutionary new Strato-Flight provides a new standard of driving ease and safe, instantaneous power."

Many Innovations
The Twins also revealed many other Pontiac innovations this year including:

Catalina coupes and Catalina Four-Door Sedans, a new body style this year will be available in all series, the low priced 800, the luxury 870, and the large Starchief. Thus, even though prices are going up, the Pontiac Twins will be enabled to continue to sell Pontiacs for less than the price of the big three in the local market.

A new battery which has rubber separators instead of wood, new headlamps for better night visibility; new rear-riding insert for riding comfort and an air conditioning unit located entirely under the hood, are also featured.

50 On Display
The Twins said they expect to have 50 new Pontiacs tomorrow so everyone will be "able to get in and drive this luxury car." One of the exciting models in Pontiac's beautiful new line of 1956 automobiles is this Starchief Catalina four-door sedan.

The Fleet, luxurious Pontiac Starchief, finished in modern, metallic colors and upholstered sumptuously in leather and nylon fabrics, rides on a road-leveling 124 inch wheelbase, powered by a 227 h.p. engine. It is on display tomorrow at Twin Pontiac, 505 Pacific Coast Hwy., Hermosa Beach.

LARGE RIVERS
At least nine or ten of the Amazon River's tributaries exceed the Rhine River in total length.

Junior May Win Pontiac Made to Size

An all new, 1956 Junior Star Chief Convertible, built and designed for the junior member of the family, will be given away free by the Pontiac Twins, Richard and Robert Greenwald, owners of Twin Pontiac, 505 Pacific Coast Hwy., Hermosa Beach, the twins announced yesterday.

"Drawing tickets and information will be available this week end" the Twins stated, "during the showing of the 1956 Pontiac, which debuts tomorrow."

The Junior convertible is 72 inches long, 25 wide and 14

LAW IN ACTION

Suppose Joseph Q. Tronk, Transpace Journal, put his space ship down in California for a first hand story of our government. Could you give it to him?

Or would you go on and on with complaints about taxes, elections, the price of groceries, co-existence and such like? No? Good. What would you tell Mr. Thronk?

That we agree with our first law makers that no government has any just power without the consent of the governed? That we put government under law to protect from tyrants our "unalienable" rights to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness?

That the courts check Congress and the President, and the President checks the Congress and the courts etc.?

But could you tell Mr. Thronk how the people can check all branches of government from conspiring as they do elsewhere, to take the people's rights away?

high, is run by battery and weighs 150 pounds. Normally selling for $500 the Twins will have a special contest to determine the lucky winner of this exciting new car.

Of the car itself the Twins said, "the sturdy Junior is a quality unit throughout. The body is fibre glass painted in real-life Pontiac two-tone colors and simulated chrome silver paint. It copies the 1956 Pontiac in every detail."

Well yes, you could tell him about the first Amendment to our Constitution. There the free press can tell the public of its abuses. There the people can assemble and petition for redress of their wrongs. Without an informed, educated and powerful public opinion to check the whole operation, you could say, the mere separation of the executive legislative and judicial powers might fail to protect the people's rights.

You might try to tell Mr. Thronk that we oppose personal or absolute government. No king as in a monarchy; no absolute ruler or leader as in fascism or nazism; no absolute class as in communism; no absolute state as in state socialism; and no absolute masses as in mob rule.

By how Mr. Thronk would be trying to fight his way back to his floating press room. Grab his coat-tails and tell him a few more things:

Without independent courts, our rights would be nothing but lofty words. Through our writ of "habeas corpus," for example, you can get an open court at once to look into the causes of your imprisonment. You can demand and get a speedy trial, before an impartial judge and jury, where the state has to prove you are guilty or let you off.

But nobody from outer space could believe all this: Yet, Mr. Thronk, Freedom is still the world's biggest news story. The Freedom to worship; to think; to express our thoughts; and, under law, to act for our own good.
