An Outstanding Week

Some future historian will no doubt mention as a mild aberration of our times the fact that Americans in this decade declared and observed more national weeks than the calendar year contains.

As an advocate of moderation, we have often looked askance upon the plethora of weeks coming at us from all directions and tried to ignore those that fall in the category of insisting we do something — "Eat More Corn Pone Week," or "Be Good to Spinster Aunt Week," as examples. The fact is, we are usually good to spinsters and we yield to no man our capacity for corn pone. So such weeks are futile nonsense.

One week, however, stands up because of the importance of its program. National YWCA Week—April 22-28. Citizens in the more than 1600 communities where the YWCA is at work join in observing this week.

Torrance is proud of our YWCA organization and its record of service. The YWCA recently celebrated the 100th anniversary of its founding in London in 1855. The fact that it has grown from one small group of dedicated women to the world's largest women's organization with a Christian purpose is evidence of its worth.

As it begins its second century of service, it has members of all races and creeds in 65 nations around the world who daily reap the benefits of its program. This program, devoted to the welfare and development of the women, has in recent years, been extended to include those who are a part of her life as wife and mother—today the entire family enjoys recreational and educational activities at the YWCA.

The YWCA offers opportunities as wide and as varied as the needs of the individual in these times. Its work translates into action the symbolic meaning of its "Blue Triangle" insignia: development of body, mind, and spirit, is designed to give help in achieving a well-rounded, effective personality.

This is carried out by providing sound education and recreation for maintaining physical fitness, and classes, training in job-skills, and cultural and educational activities for mental growth.

The opportunities for spiritual growth are evident in the religious emphasis which shows Christian ideal put into practice in all of its work.

Torrance is better because of the benefits given to many of its residents through the YWCA program. This one week set aside to focus attention on the work of the YWCA deserves to be honored and endorsed by all citizens of Torrance.

Wanted: New Ideas

One of the most important functions of a community newspaper is to provide a forum for expression of opinions by its readers. This valuable opportunity is characteristic of our democratic society, but it cannot reach its full usefulness without extensive cooperation from newspaper readers.

We frequently have telephone calls and office visits from readers eager to tell us what is right and what is wrong in the community. Sometimes they dissent vehemently from opinions expressed by our editorial writers or columnists. This is fine, and we appreciate their interest. But it would be even better if these good people would take a few minutes to put their comments in writing. We are glad to print them.

But why try so hard to convince a lone newspaper worker that you are so right? If you write your ideas in the form of a letter, we can help you to wake the town and tell the people. No telling how many folks you might convert to your logical reasoning and clear thinking. You don't have to agree with us. We are just as likely to be wrong as you. In fact, it always makes us happy to receive a strong letter of protest. It gives us the comforting assurance that our newspaper is being read. It also proves that somebody has got you excited enough about something to stir a sparkling activity within your brain cells. And we believe that anyone who inspires us to think has done us a great service.

We can always be sure of receiving Letters to the Editor from several habitual correspondents whose views are well-known to most of us, and who reiterate the same themes again and again. What we want are fresh ideas. We hope to receive letters from readers who have never written to us before.

When we hear the complaint: "why don't you print the truth?" we reply: "Okay, we will be delighted to print the truth! Why don't you tell us what it is—in your very own words—and we'll tell all our other readers about it!"

"Why have you come home so early, my son?" asked Noodnik's mother. "I was at my girl friend's house," explained Noodnik, "and we were sitting on the sofa. Suddenly she leaned over and turned out the light, so I left. I guess I can take a hint."

always knows when he wants to be forced to do something against his will.

My Grandfather Globber says he knew exactly when he became old. It was the day he found out that the gleam in his eyes came from the sun hitting his eyeglasses.

Phylbrook, my old classmate, reminds me: "Why shouldn't my wife give me the best years of her life? I'm the one who made them the best."

My Aunt Gasser inserted the following ad in her local newspaper: "Lady and husband have six sons. Can you recommend any way for us to have a daughter?" An American wrote: "If at first you don't succeed try, try again." A Canadian wrote: "Why not ask Papa Dionne?" A New Zealander recommended a diet of kangaroo beef. An Indian suggested yogi. But a Frenchman wrote this simple note: "May I be of service?"

Definition of taxes: Something bigger than Texas.

Gregory, my barber, was traveling to the Flamingo Hotel in Las Vegas, and retired early. In the berth above him, a young lady kept ringing the porter without result, so Gregory said: "What's wrong up there?" "I'm cold," chattered ed the girl, "could you get me a blanket?" Gregory replied: "Let's pretend we're married." There was a slight pause, and the girl answered: "Alright, that should be fun." "Then go get your own blanket!" snapped Gregory, and he went back to sleep.

The Squirrel Cage

By REID BUNDY

If you think this has been an uneventful week, you have not been paying any attention to the activities of a score of organizations who are seeking public recognition during this seven-day period. Among others, this is YWCA Week, Public Schools Week, Chemical Progress Week, National Guard Week, Salesmen's Recognition Week, Military Reserve Week, and Take Down Them Political Signs Week.

Don Perkins, whose keen observance picks up such items for the National Safety Council's "Safety Scope," reports that one local company that once had its many offices plastered with "Think" signs has replaced them with "Don't Think, Ask!"

Daylight Savings Time comes along again this week and with its attendant confusion over whether to turn the clocks forward or back. It's really very simple—you Spring Forward and Fall Back. Turn it forward in the spring, back in the fall. Happy clock-watching to you.

Tom Rische passed this one along as a true story, but in any case, it's a good one: Mrs. Van Richwith, whose husband's income had recently put her in the select economic circle, had not yet been able to crash high society.

Finally, however, she managed to snag the mayor and a few other leading lights from the social world and got them at a dinner at her home. She went all out to make the affair ultra swanky and dinner—steak and mushrooms—branded forth comments of praise from those in attendance.

Mrs. Richwith thought her place in the select "400" was secure when her cook came in from the kitchen and asked to talk with her.

"I fed some of the mushrooms to the dog and just now I found him on the back porch and he's dead," the distraught cook sobbed.

Horrified, Mrs. Van R. called the hospital and ambulance. As an after-dinner treat, guests had their stomachs pumped and some of those in most obvious distress were taken to the hospital.

Mr. Van R. was trying to console his wife when the chauffeur appeared. "I didn't want to upset you while dinner was going on, but I've got some bad news. The dog got hit by a car a little while ago and I laid him on the back porch. Poor little fellow."

Mrs. Van R. hasn't made the "400" yet.

AFTER HOURS

By JOHN MORLEY

(Editor's Note: In 10 consecutive installments "After Hours" discusses the explosive question of Palestine, from its origin in ancient times to the present, from available historic facts, the author's eye-witness observations, from research on the spot and interviews with officials, military leaders, reporters on both sides of the controversy. Columnist John Morley covered the Middle East and Palestine many times from 1931 to 1956... some 14 trips between 1950 and 1956. As a Christian he supported the Christian Palestine committee and the Jew in his fight for dignity and equality with such widely circulated articles as "Our Debt to the Jew," "Your Debt to the Jew," "Mr. Hitler, from Berlin in 1930 to the present. His record of objective reporting is evidenced by the fullest cooperation from Arab governments and the State of Israel when covering the Middle East."

David hotel in Jerusalem and killed 80 British and Arab officials. By this time other Jewish military groups began to appear... the Najjada and Futuwa, armed youth organizations. It was a black Christmas in 1946 in the Holy Land. Negotiations began in Britain through the big powers, and including Russia, that the British return the mandate to the United States, and supersede it by a trusteeship. Russia now proposed that a Hebrew state be set up in a part of Palestine, supported by the United Nations.

Another London conference on Palestine was held with only the Arab states and the British government participating. The Arabs refused to recognize a Jewish state in Palestine, but accepted a "Jewish religious community" only. They refused to even discuss the question with Jewish representatives. The conference adjourned with no practical improvement in the situation.

By 1948 the Zionist position was greatly strengthened by the Democratic victory in the U.S. President Truman publicly called for the admission of 100,000 Jews in Palestine and urged Britain to cooperate. The Truman statement brought immediate repercussions from the Arabs in the Middle East of "betrayal." King Saud in a personal letter to President Truman accused him of violating the agreements of President Roosevelt.

Even the British government considered the Truman statement as provocative and ill-timed. The British press accused Truman of playing politics for Jewish support by suggesting throughout the campaign his sympathy with the Jews. "The Truman bombshell will reverberate around the world," said the Manchester Guardian.

Part 7... "British Labor Party Betrays Jew"

With World War II ended and the Labor party in power in Britain, the Zionist movement began to lose support. The Labor party reversed British policy and publicly proclaimed its sympathy with the Arabs. Violent outbreaks greeted the announcement among the Jews in Palestine. Denunciations and cries of "Sell Out" reverberated on Palestinian streets. Only this time they came from the Jew. The British controlled Palestine railroad system was blown up by Zionist forces. Arabs were murdered and attacked by Jewish extremists. Arab attacks upon innocent Jews added to the toll of human life in this never-ending Palestine crisis. Jews were hanged from buildings in pre-arranged and cries of "Sell Out" reverberated on Palestinian streets. Only this time they came from the Jew.
