

Barringtons Return From Eastern Tour

With miles of travel chalked up along with interesting visits in the larger cities of the east and south, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Barrington arrived home last Sunday night from a three and a half weeks tour.

The Barringtons' first stop was El Paso, Texas, where they attended the National Oil Mill Superintendents' Assn. convention. From El Paso they flew to Chicago and from there to Buffalo and Niagara Falls. Heading south again, their next stop was Atlantic City for the Kiwanis National convention.

At the close of the convention, the Torrance couple with others from the California 19th district of Kiwanis, chartered a bus and headed for New York where they enjoyed the night spots, sight seeing tours and saw the Broadway play "Lil' Abner."

The Barringtons went from New York to Boston where they joined Mrs. Barrington's sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Petrarca of Redondo, who were also on an eastern tour.

Since their mother came from Boston, Mrs. Barrington and Mrs. Petrarca spent three days visiting the places of interest. The local travelers then took a plane south to spend July 4 in Washington, D.C. Their next stops were Cincinnati, Indianapolis, and Kokomo. They then went to Chicago where they boarded a California-bound plane.

ATTEND LUAU

Mr. and Mrs. William King, 25930 Matfield, attended a luau held by "The Keys" club in Tarzana Saturday evening.

HAMILTON FAMILY RETURN FROM TRIP

Dr. and Mrs. Warren Hamilton and daughters, Ann and Linda, 1727 Fern Ave., returned last Saturday from a two and half weeks vacation. They attended the Lions International convention in San Francisco after which they drove north through Oregon, Washington, Victoria and across to Vancouver. Enroute home they went to Barstow for a visit with Dr. and Mrs. Walter Rehwoidt, former residents.

GERMAN STUDENT VISITING HERE

Hans Musster of Frankfurt, Germany, student at Brigham Young University at Provo, Utah, arrived last Sunday for a two months' visit with his school friend, John Arnold, son of Mr. and Mrs. Les Arnold, 715 Esplanade. Hans is attending Brigham Young on a scholarship. He is a transferee from Johann Wolfgang Goethe University in Frankfurt.

UNIVERSAL BEAUTY

On their day off, "Miss Universe" beauty contestants visited the local area on a bus tour and dined together at the Marineland restaurant. Sixty contestants in the beauty pageant spent last Monday enjoying the oceanarium, the scenic beauty of the spot, and fish fare at the restaurant.

In the upper photo, are left, Gerti Daub of Germany and, right, Kyoko Otani of Japan sharing a shellfish platter with George Foster, restaurateur.

At left is Jacqueline Bonilla, "Miss Morocco" dining with Leona Cagle, "Miss Maryland", who won the crown of "Miss United States" on Wednesday evening, but was later disqualified.

Torrance Herald Social World

EDNA CLOYD, Editor

JULY 21, 1957

FA 8-5164

Nine

WEDDING GUESTS HAVE ARRIVED

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis F. O'Connell, 21602 Denker Ave., have as their guests Mr. and Mrs. John O'Connell and children of Canton, Mass., and Mrs. Lillian Kane and sons of Worcester, Mass., who have arrived to attend the wedding of Miss Marguerite O'Connell to Vincent Juliano. The wedding will be solemnized July 25 at Nativity Church.

Penne Cook Christening Noon Today

At noon today little Miss Penne Ann Cook, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Eugene Cook, 2703 Arlington Ave., will be christened.

The ceremony will take place at the First Lutheran Church with the Rev. Paul Wenske, pastor, officiating.

Godparents for Penne will be Mrs. Cook's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Enstrom of Montevideo, Minn., who arrived Thursday for a week's visit, and Dr. and Mrs. Richard Schaeffer of Redondo.

For her christening Penne will wear a white nylon dress and matching bonnet.

After the ceremony, Dr. and Mrs. Cook will entertain family members and friends at a buffet at their home.

Attending the affair with the hosts and their daughter will be their son, Timothy; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Cook of Palos Verdes; Mr. and Mrs. David Cook and Jean and Jeri; Dr. and Mrs. Shaeffer, Mr. and Mrs. Enstrom; Mrs. W. I. Laughon and her mother, Mrs. Lolly Aherns.

MATERNITY TEAS

Following a trend in many of the large hospitals across the country, the Auxiliary to the Torrance Memorial hospital has inaugurated a series of "Maternity Teas" for mothers-to-be. The first of these events, planned to forego any apprehensions the expectant mother may have regarding her hospital sojourn, was held last Wednesday in the doctor's lounge in the new wing of the hospital. The tea table scene includes from left, Leonard A. Ensminger, hospital administrator, Mrs. Janett Mathys, supervisor of the obstetric ward, Mrs. Robert McCormick and Mrs. C. E. Easley. At the right, is a scene in the delivery room on the tour conducted by Mrs. Mathys. The teas will be held on the third Tuesday of each month at 1 p. m. Mrs. John Beaman is chairman of the tea committee consisting of Mmes. C. E. Easley, Paul Roettger, Robert McCormick and Emil Lichina.

ENTERTAIN GUESTS

Dr. and Mrs. Warren Hamilton entertained at a barbecue supper at their home, 1730 Hickory Ave. last Tuesday. Their guests were Mrs. Hamilton's cousin and family, the Rev. and Mrs. Wesley F. Morton and daughter, Navilda, of Everett, Washington. Joining them after dinner were another cousin and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Howard of Torrance.

Gloria Lancaster to Wed Patrick Ladell on July 27

Climaxing a neighborhood romance is the announcement being made today by Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Sanders, 17039 Delia Ave., of the engagement of their daughter, Gloria Lancaster, to Patrick Robert Ladell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ladell, 17202 Delia Ave.

The wedding will be solemnized at high noon on July 27 at the St. Catherine Laboure Catholic Church.

The future bride will be a senior at Torrance High school in September.

Mr. Ladell was graduated from the St. Frances de Sale High School in St. Louis and is now employed by Firestone.

MIDWEST TRIP

Old school friends of Iowa State in Ames, relatives and friends in Newton and Omaha, Neb., were visited by Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Dennis and sons, Michael and Edward, on their recent trip. The family, who live at 18811 Glenburn Ave., were gone three weeks.

NORTHWEST TRIP

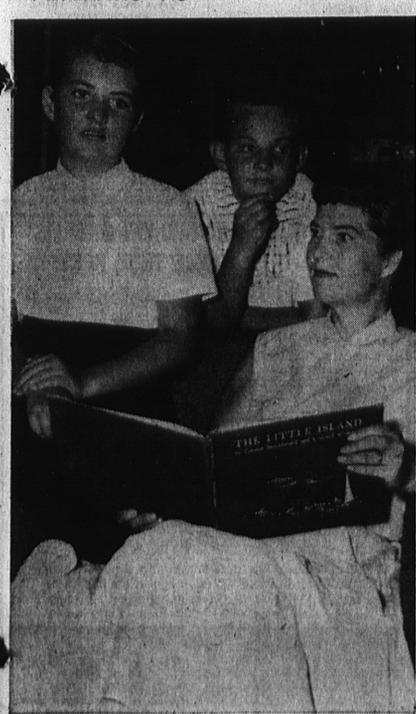

Mr. and Mrs. Lester McPheeters and daughter, Sandy, 20942 Halldale and Mrs. McPheeter's mother, Mrs. Bertha Bierer of Hawthorne have returned from a three-weeks trip. They toured Oregon, Montana and Canada.

ARIZONA VACATION

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Richter and children, Judy, Vicky and Dean, of 16914 Casmir, and Mrs. Richter's brother, R. Nelson of Bishop, have returned from a 10 day trip through Arizona. They visited with friends at Flagstaff.

Home and-or Career—Provokes Varied Opinions From Local Women

AN EMPHATIC "NO"

MRS. H. F. HEINLEIN ... David and Ann Louise

'Yes and No' on Current Issue Given for Readers

By VONDA CARLTON

Can a woman successfully combine an office and homemaker career?

This is a provocative question being debated in many American families today as more and more women invade the business field.

The results of this invasion — the effect on the life of the working wife and mother — are the center of much controversy.

In an effort to present all sides of the question, the Torrance HERALD has interviewed three housewives: one who doesn't work, one who works part-time and one who holds down a full-time job.

Here are their answers to career-housewife question.

Mrs. H. F. Heinlein, 2208 Gramercy Ave., says an emphatic NO, a housewife and career combination can not be successful.

"There are things you like to do with your family that you just can't do when you're holding down a job, too.

"I know, I've tried it. I loved my job, but in order to give my 12-year-old daughter and 8-year-old son the well-rounded life they should have, I had to quit work."

Mrs. Heinlein doesn't think her youngsters suffered any emotional distress because she was working and couldn't be at home with them.

However, she says, the youngsters were forced to lead and a real good system to work at a job and then do housework and still have plenty of time left to relax with the family," Mrs. Pulliam says.

A cafeteria worker at one of the elementary schools, Mrs. Pulliam puts in five hours a day on her job.

"I usually rise early and make lunches for my husband and sons. After they leave I straighten the house and iron before going to work," she explains.

Arriving home in the early afternoon, she starts dinner and finishes with the housework. The boys have certain chores around the house which they take care of when they come home from school, and everyone helps with the dinner dishes.

"After dinner, my time belongs to my family. I never do any work around the house in the evening.

Admitting that she works on a close schedule, Mrs. Pulliam also says her job curtails some of the things she would like to do, such as sewing.

But her system and proper planning worked out so well that last year the Pulliams took in a foster son — Carl Hoybye, the exchange student here from Denmark.

Representing the side that maintains an office and homemaker career can be combined is Mrs. Richard Schroeder, 4905 Marion Ave.

Mother of three children, Mrs. Schroeder is a typist-clerk at the City Hall.

Admitting she loves her career, she also says her family likes having her work and is proud of her job.

While she works to supplement the family income, Mrs. Schroeder declares she would keep her office job even if they had all the money they needed.

The children, Neil, Carolyn and Toni, help with the work around the house. The responsibility is good for them, Mrs. Schroeder says, and in addition it is a good way for them to earn their weekly allowance. Evenings are kept free for the family. If the parents go out in the evenings, the youngsters usually go along.

Heavy housework is done on the week ends and the man of the family joins in on the floor waxing, window washing and yard work.

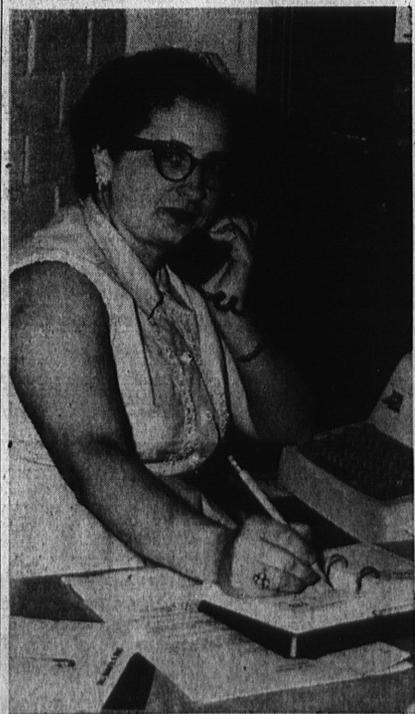

Mrs. Schroeder doesn't believe that children become juvenile delinquents just because both parents work.

"If children are secure and know that they are loved that is the main thing. If they are going to be bad it makes no difference whether the parents are home during the day or not," she added.

But working eight hours a day does force her to give up community and outside activities.

"There are just so many hours in a day, so you have to choose which is most important — to be with your family in the evening or to aid civic or church organizations. "With me, it's my family," she concluded.

FAMILY TEAMWORK IS GOOD

MRS. RICHARD SCHROEDER ... In Career Woman Role