CIVIC LEAGUE TO HEAR LAWYER NEXT THURSDAY

Lee Skelly, North Long Beach attorney with considerable experience in annexation matters, will address an open meeting of the Lomita Civic League at the Little Theater of the old Narbonne High School, 254th and Walnut, at 8 p.m. next Thursday.

His topic will be, "The Probability of Torrance Gobbling Up Lomita." He will cite experiences from his practice which would show that Lomita would not be annexed by Torrance unless the citizens of Lomita desired it.

Promises Hit
The Civic League has put out pamphlets to Lomita voters at-lacking the "glittering promises" of the pro-incorporationists, in connection with the upcoming Oct. 29 incorporation election.

"They promise there will be no increase in taxes," the pamphlet declares. "They talk like they would have complete control over a city council not yet elected in a city not yet incorporated. Nothing said now can possibly be binding upon a city council not yet elected. They can safely promise us the world with a fence around it, knowing perfectly well that once incorporated, they won't have to make good on any of it."

Costs Attacked
"There has never been a California city where taxes were less after incorporation than they were before. An extra layer of government also costs more."

"Promoters say incorporation will change nothing. Then why, in the name of common sense, do they want to incorporate?"

Who's Promoting?
"They try to make you believe that incorporation of Lomita is being opposed by outside interests and professional. We know of no such, and demand that they name these outside interests and professionals — either tell who they are or shut up. We can easily name the outside professionals working for incorporation."

The League claims that incorporation will mean "special favors for a few — high taxation for you!"

Anti-incorporationists claim there is no danger of Lomita being annexed by Torrance.

Columbia Cuts Force by 160

Reduction of the Columbia Geneva Steel working force by 160 men began here this week, it was announced by Don Laselle, works manager of the local plant.

Announcement of the layoffs said the production force was being cut because of reduced demand for steel. One of the firm's four open hearth furnaces was shut down Sunday, and operations on the 12-inch rolling mill was reduced by 20 per cent.
