

Call for El Camino Alums Issued by Group President

Former students of El Camino College who wish to be included on the regular mailing list of the Alumni News were being paged today by Miss Marjo Strobel, president of the alumni group.

Currently planning homecoming activities for the alums, Miss Strobel, a resident of Redondo Beach, is working in conjunction with the co-chairman of Homecoming Day, Miss Pat Fickett and Clay White. The college event is scheduled for Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 28.

News of special features of interest to alums will be included in the Alumni News, edited by Mrs. Lois Howsley, a member of the college press bureau.

Names Needed

Miss Strobel cautioned ECC graduates that most students who received copies of the initial publication of the News last spring will not get the second edition unless they forward their name and correct address to the office of the college coordinator of public relations.

Many who received the first mailing were included on a

"one-time" mailing list which utilized a single card for mailing purposes. With that card used, it will be impossible for second mailings to go out to these people, she explained.

To Be Sent Free

The News will be sent free of charge to former students who request it, the alum chairman noted. Requests should be mailed to W. A. Kamrath, El Camino College, El Camino College, Calif., she added. Purpose of the Alumni News, a mimeographed publication, is to inform former students of the developments of El Camino

College and the activities of its graduates.

Anyone who has completed 25 or more units at El Camino is eligible to receive the paper and to join the Alumni Ass., Miss Strobel announced. She also urged those forwarding addresses to give a brief account of their activities and of those of friends for use in future publications.

To be included in the next mailing, alums must mail their requests prior to Nov. 14, the alum officer concluded.

Club Formed

Dr. Roy Sanderson, D.C., Redondo Beach, was named temporary chairman of a new Community Toastmasters Club which held its first meeting Tuesday.

The group will meet regularly on Tuesday evenings at a place yet to be announced. Present at the organizational meeting were Max Sachs, district governor, and Tom Shod, area governor.

Other temporary officers include Harry Teasdale, Los Angeles, secretary; Gus Anastasio, Torrance treasurer; and John Barton, membership and by-laws committees.

Found Bikes Pose Problem For Police

Missing a bicycle? According to the Los Angeles Police Dept.'s Harbor Division, some 14 youngsters in this area are going without their bicycles just because they haven't been around to identify them.

Captain Karl Lee, commander of the Harbor Division, requests boys and girls whose bicycles are missing to bring an accurate description of their property to the Division office, 638 S. Beacon St.

In addition to bicycles, many of which are nearly new, parts of bicycles also have been recovered. One toy being held for its owner is an expensive tricycle.

Officers stated that many of the bikes recovered have been returned to their owners because they were registered and licensed.

Registration of the two-wheelers can be made at Harbor Division, or at the Wilmington Sub-station.

Bicycles not claimed will be sold at a public auction before Christmas.
