Great Lakes Carbon Employees Feted at Annual Award Dinner

The annual service award dinner for employees of the Great Lakes Carbon Corp., Waleria plant, was held recently at the Portuguese Bend Club with 64 employees with five years or more of service were honored.

Six employees were awarded diamond pins and engraved watches for completion of 25 years of service. In addition, engraved watches were presented to five men who received 25 year pins at the 1956 award dinner.

There are now 11 men with 25 years or more of service at this location.

Pins Awarded
Twenty-five year pins were awarded to D. F. Dyrsmid, Jose Gomez, Silvano Monge, Ysabel Madrid, Gaspar Tarango, and Enrique Espinoza.

Fifteen-year pins were awarded to Vicente Granada, Benjamin Perez, and Joseph Aguilar.

Ten-year pins were awarded to Louie Saldana, Orval Chance, Ed McCallum, Kenneth Bridges, Guadalupe Hernandez, George T. Perez, George B. Perez, Robert Reiss, George Green, and Charles Pedro.

Five-year pins were awarded to: Ed Brannigan, Jesus Zavala, Kenneth Hedges, Roq Key, Cleve Aranda, Robert Mann, S. Miyoshi, and Robert Tabor.

In addition to the awards for Waleria employees, three men from the Basalt, Nev., plant received service pins also.

Two Honored
Special recognition was given to three men who, although not employees of Great Lakes, have been closely associated with the plant and contributed much to the success of the operation and the performance of their duties. J. Lyons, superintendent, and Leo Matt, shovel operator for C. L. Sheets, mining and excavating contractor, have a combined total of 40 years at this plant. Lyons first became associated with the operation in 1931 and Leo Matt started in Lompoc in 1943 with the beginning of Great Lakes' operation there. He transferred to Waleria in 1945.

Roy McGraw known to all as Mac, has hauled the bulk of the bagged finished product from the Waleria plant for the past 12 years on trucks under contract from Direct Delivery System.

Guests Attend
Guests from other Great

Lakes Carbon Corp. locations included D. L. Marlett, vice president and general manager who presented the awards; E. A. Harris, operations manager; N. V. Brower, assistant operations manager; C. L. Steudle, west coast personnel manager; R. L. Douglas, senior advertising manager; J. Hughes, purchasing agent; I. O. Hanson, vice president, Palos Verdes Properties; J. G. Nordin, director; and J. G. Graham, plant superintendent, Basalt, Nev.

Seventy per cent of the Waleria plant employees have completed five years or more of service with the average length of service per employe 13 years, three months.

Firemen Put Out Fire In Awning Saturday

An early morning fire in an awning at the Christian Science Reading Room, 1617 Cabrillo Ave., was quickly extinguished by Torrance firemen Saturday.

The 2 a.m. blaze may have been caused by a cigaret tossed from a passerby, firemen said.

NEW CAR WASH . . . This ultra-modern car wash will open between Dec. 1 and 10, according to the proprietors, Al Farkas and I. Bergen. It will be located at the intersection of 213th and Torrance Blvd. The latest equipment will handle up to 800 cars a day, with the business open every day.

FUNDS SOUGHT . . . Christmas seal sales will be among the many projects undertaken by the Bay-Harbor Osteopathic Auxiliary women to raise money for the organization's $5000 pledge to the $1,100,000 Bay-Harbor Osteopathic Hospital to be built in Harbor City. Here three members of the auxiliary (left to right), Mrs. Glenn Mahoney of Victoria Park, Mrs. Dean Brown of Gardena, and Mrs. Ronald Runciman of San Pedro, check seals
