

Eastern Orthodox Church To Celebrate Easter May 3

Next Sunday, May 3, will be the Easter Sunday for all communicants of the Eastern Orthodox Church, it was announced here yesterday by Dr. Ernest Donlou, president of the South Bay Greek Orthodox community.

Services will open Wednesday night, April 29, at 7:30, when the Sacrament of the Holy Oil will be performed at the Redondo Beach Women's Club, 400 S. Broadway. Father Naoum Nitsiotis will be officiant.

The Wednesday night sacrament will commemorate the anointing of the Lord with myrrh by the women in the house of Sinom, the Leper, in Bethany.

THURSDAY, the Service of Holy Passion will be performed. The service recalls the events leading to the Lord's crucifixion.

Decoration of the Lord's tomb in a ceremony called "The Epitafios" will be commemorated in a service to be performed at 4 p.m. Friday by His Grace, Bishop Demetrios of Olympus.

Friday evening, the Ceremony of Lamentation will be performed, commemorating the lowering of the Lord from the cross.

SATURDAY, the service of the Resurrection and Liturgy will be held at 10 p.m. to be climaxed at midnight when all the lights are extinguished. The priest takes a light from the vigil which is burning and passes it to the faithful who are holding candles. Many of the worshippers will take the candles to their homes and light their votive lamps as a symbol of illumination from the resurrection of the Lord.

Establishment of this date as Easter by the Eastern Orthodox is done according to the Seventh Apostolic Canon which states that Easter must be celebrated after the vernal equinox and after the Jewish Passover. Since Passover ends at sunset April 30, the Orthodox Easter falls on the following Sunday, May 3.

Dance Classes Open

Classes in folk, tap, and interpretive dancing will be offered from 4:30 to 5:30 each Tuesday afternoon at Alondra Park for students 11 to 14.

Slim Trim Class Set for Moms

A slim and trim class for North Torrance area housewives will begin Wednesday at 10:30 a.m. at McMaster Park, 174th St. and Yukon Ave., according to Park Director Les Brienfeldt.

The pound-purging sessions will be conducted each Wednesday under direction of Mrs.

Z. E. Englert, who is enrolling applicants at DA 4-5940.

Members of the play area's Mothers' Club will be in charge of free child care during the sessions.

Other up-coming activities at the park include a boys' track meet on May 2 and a taure study and cook-out session on May 9.

New School Plan Voted

Final plans and specifications for Adams Elementary School, 238th and Arlington Ave., were approved by the Torrance Board of Education this week and bids will be sought soon.

The new elementary school, which will relieve double sessions at nearby Wood School, will contain eight classrooms, two kindergarten rooms, and administration, multipurpose, and shop and homemaking buildings.

The building will cost an estimated $575,000. George Schreiber prepared the plans. The new facilities are expected to be ready in mid-1960.

Mom will soon have her day and if she is smart she will think about dad's day now. May we suggest a look at our huge pipe selection (1.50 to 15.00). Layaway now to please him then!

Lions Hear of Amazing Skills of Blind Workers

The amazing story of the things human beings can learn to do after they go blind was recounted here this week by Ted R. Carmack of the Braille Institute's public relations department in a talk and film presentation before the North Torrance Lions Club.

Carmack, a World War II pilot who was shot down over the Himalayan mountains, cited as an example the employment by Northrop Aircraft of two blind men who do precision metal grinding requiring accuracy to within a about 1/500ths of the width of a human hair.

"They judge the thickness of the metal," Carmack said, "by the feel of the metal and the sound of the abrasive wheel as it brushes the metal."

Carmack also explained the wide range of work made possible at the Braille Institute by contributions and bequests in wills.

He said the Braille Institute provides dozens of services ranging from friendly adjustment counseling with newly blind persons to vocational rehabilitation and training and the providing of a recreational program to show sightless people that they "still can have a good life."

Navy Testing For Nuclear Enlistees

High school graduates can qualify for training in the Navy's nuclear field program prior to actual enlistment, Torrance recruiter Dale Fields said yesterday.

"However, he must have plenty upstairs," Fields warned.

Applicants who qualify under a series of examinations are classified as "nuclear field seaman recruits" and after basic training at San Diego, are sent to school in New London, Conn., the Navy's area recruiter said.

"This is a wonderful opportunity for young men to embark on an entirely new technical career," Fields said. "At the same time, he can serve in one of the oldest organizations in the country — the U. S. Navy."

Young men interested in such a career, or one in electronics, guided missiles, or any of more than 60 other specialties the Navy offers, can contact Fields at 16422 S. Vermont Ave. in Gardena.

Garden Checklist

By California Association of Nurserymen

1. Zinnias rank among the best summer bedding plants, but be sure they have a warm sunny spot if you want the best results.
2. Yellowing or pale leaves on camellias can usually be greened up with an application or two of iron. Use one of the new iron compounds for fastest absorption by the plant.
3. Caladiums, those fancy leaf little plants, can still be planted from tubers. As with a tuberous begonia, give them a loose rich soil, good drainage and mostly shade.
4. The best show roses come from disbudding. If your aim is size, pinch off all but the terminal bud on each stem.
5. Keep privet hedges full and compact by frequent trimming. Don't wait until trimming leaves woody bare spots.
