Editor, Torrance Herald:

Several editions ago, your paper gave quite a lot of space to Dr. Hull's explanations of why the teachers would get little or no raise in pay this year. The reason boiled down to this—there would be no money.

Where did the board find the $2500 they handed over to Dr. Hull? Could they find some for my husband, too?

As a teacher in one of your high schools, he makes considerably less than $20,500—and with a far more responsible job than Dr. Hull.

With pay raises such as this I can understand why the board will have to wait until the final budget figures are compiled before they know whether or not they can throw the peasants an extra chop this year. You go on to say that the board used the same percentage of increase given other employees and that, I believe, was three per cent. $2500 doesn't figure out as three per cent of $18,000.

(Name Withheld.)

The writer of the letter said she was willing to have her name used, but offered a side bet that her husband would be transferred to the boondocks next year if used. Not being a betting man, the editor is withholding the name.)

Editor, Torrance Herald:

One cannot help but wonder what makes people be so cruel on occasions. History is replete with "man's inhumanity to man." Cruelty to animals, which takes place every day, in spite of the noble efforts of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, is another sad picture.

A common practice is to abandon animals where they will either starve to death or be killed by traffic.

Not long ago a car stopped by our church, a little boy got out, dropped a small kitten, jumped back into the car and it sped away. An adult was driving the car and was responsible for abandoning the kitten. In this case a home was found for it.

Last Sunday at dusk I was driving along Madrona Ave. between Sepulveda and Carson. By the side of the road were five little kittens, hungry and frightened. They, too, had been dropped by a heartless member of the human race.

Not only were they in danger of being mangled on the highway, but they could have caused a wreck. There were skid marks on the paving where cars had swerved to avoid hitting them.

AN OLD TIMER . . . Steve Lesk of Steve's Tobacco Shop, 1813 S. Catalina Ave., has made a rare find—he has a genuine wooden Indian, the type that once adorned the fronts of America's tobacco shops. The valuable relic is reputed to be 150 years old.

Torrance-Made Projection Screens Enroute to Moscow

Twenty-one large seamless projection screens have been manufactured in Torrance under contract with the U.S. government, Roy C. Stewart, president of Stewart-Trans-Lux Corp., announced yesterday. These are now in transit to Russia for use at the American Exhibit opening in Moscow in late July.

FROM HERE, the Russian citizens will move on to the Circarama Building, where they can see democracy at work "in the round," the 11 projectors and 11 separate screens providing the famous 360-degree moving view of U.S. landmarks, engineering feats, factories, and workers. The Circarama was originated by the Walt Disney Studios and has employed Stewart-Trans-Lux seamless screens in all of its installations, such as Disneyland Park, Casablanca, and the Brussels World's Fair where it enthralled thousands.

THE STEWART-Trans-Lux Corp., operated by Roy C. Stewart and his four sons, who are all long-time local residents, has pioneered in the field of custom manufactured, professional quality seamless theater screens and translucent rear projection screens. These are now being used in
