MR. AND MRS. CARL W. HITSCH... On 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hitsch Feted on Golden Wedding

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred D. Fite, 4640 Sepulveda Blvd., was the scene of a beautiful reception last Saturday afternoon honoring Mrs. Fite's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Hitsch, of Beaumont, who were celebrating their Golden Wedding Anniversary.

The honored couple are natives of Columbus, Ohio. They moved to Long Beach in 1927 where Mr. Hitsch was connected with the Prudential Insurance Co. for a number of years prior to retirement.

Among the guests at Saturday's party were five generations of family, many friends and former associates. From the greatest distance was Mrs. Ruth Phipps, a life-long friend from Columbus, Ohio.

The patio was decorated in gold and white. An anniversary cake centered a table from which Hawaiian punch and coffee were served. Clusters of golden wedding bells, yellow chrysanthemums and gladioli were used effectively in decorating.

The celebrants were presented with a money tree, many lovely gifts and cards.

I don't know how to explain this, but before I knew it, Anita and I were married. My mother and dad are no longer living but I have two brothers back in the home town and I haven't told them yet because of Molly.

I know if I don't tell them soon the news will leak. To make matters worse, I think I love Molly and not Anita. What shall I do? — G.I.J.

Dear G.I.J.: What do you mean "before you knew it you were married to Anita"? Did you just look in the church — and there you were, getting married?

Write Molly at once. And now that you're married, make the best of it. Personally I think Molly is lucky. You sound like a double-dealing, faithless heel. It's Anita who got stuck.

Carol Atchley, in a pink taffeta and tulle frock, served as flower girl and James Childers, nephew of the bridegroom carried the two rings on a white satin pillow to the altar.

Norman L. Woodruff stood as best man and ushers were Larry Combs, Joe Surber and Patrick Maloney.

Rev. Charles Ara officiated at the double ring ceremony. A reception followed at the church. Miss Beth MacFaden was in charge of the guest book.
