Parents to See School Library

Several hundred parents from Carl Steele Elementary School, Torrance, will make a trip through the school district's "supermarket of knowledge" today.

A part of school group conferences with parents, the fathers and mothers will be shown through the Educational Materials Building, which houses books, movies, models, records, and other aids which are used in classrooms throughout Torrance. Teachers will guide and explain the program.

Parents will meet beforehand at the school, meeting with their child's teachers. Then the group will form a caravan to the "supermarket," where they will see the "market basket" checkout for books and other aids. Then the parents will return to the school for refreshments and further discussion.
