EX-COACH NEW 'GOOD NEIGHBOR'

A Penny for your Thoughts

"Who do you think will win the USC - Washington and the UCLA - California football games to be played this afternoon in Seattle and Los Angeles respectively." This question was asked five people in Only the final whistles in both grid classics will prove these predictions right or wrong.

Henry Lopez, Hawthorne, truck driver:
I think Cal will beat the Bruins. I pick them because they are due for a win and I think it will be today. In the Trojan game I'll pick the Huskies, but it should be close . . . maybe one point."

Miss Joan Cornell, Gardena, secretary:
"I'm not too good at picking winning football teams, but this time I think it will be both of the home teams. I think the Trojans and the Bruins both have fine teams this year and should win."

John Fabian, Los Angeles, United Parcel driver:
"If you want me to pick the winner of the USC - Washington game give me seven points and I will take the Huskies. Otherwise, I will bet on the Trojans. The Bruins will meet a weak Bear team . . . and win."

Mrs. L. P. Holt, Redondo Beach, housewife:
"I think the Washington-UCSC game will end in a tie this afternoon. They are both strong teams and even, I think. In the other game, the UCLA and UC game, I favor the Bruins over the Bears."

Paul Mansfield, 4562 Saryne Ln., Seaside student:
"I think—no I am sure that the U.S.C. Trojans will win over the Washington-Huskies. They are both unbeaten, and good, but I think U.S.C. is better. I think the Bears will meet a stronger team and get beat by the Bruins."

No Council Meeting
With members of the city council and top administrative officers in San Francisco to attend the annual convention of the League of California cities, the city council meeting, normally scheduled for Tuesday evening, has been canceled this week. The council will meet next on Oct. 27.

QUEEN CROWNED . . . Sharon Breniman, 16, is crowned queen of the Waveria Roundup Days by last year's queen during ceremonies which followed her selection at the Polynesian Friday night. A panel of judges headed by movie, television star Gig Young, named Miss Breniman from a list of 10 entrants. Pam Lytle, 16, was runnerup. Named "Miss Congeniality" by the contestants was Carolyn Cummings, 17. (Herald Photo)

Torrance Pushing Lomita Water Deal

Plans to acquire the property of Narbonne Ranch Water Co. No. 2 are going ahead here despite a move by residents to annex the area to a county water district, it has been indicated by city council action.

Claims by a Lomita civic leader, published in the Herald last Sunday, that the water purchase efforts by Torrance was merely a wedge to annex Lomita was denied strongly by Councilman Robert Jahn during the council meeting Tuesday.

"We are not going to annex anyone who doesn't want to be annexed," he said.

BACKING UP its efforts to provide water for the area is a special report which shows that Torrance can deliver water to the area of North Lomita and South Torrance at about a third of the cost which would be required by the county system.

Torrance has large mains on both sides of the area and could serve it with a minimum of new facilities, the council has been told.

PETITIONS ASKING for annexation of the area to the county system have been found sufficient and a special hearing has been set for Nov. 5 by

"It's not only the cost and the upkeep of a car that worries you, but also the possible turnover."

Sponsors Cite 'Quiet Deeds'

The Torrance YMCA yesterday named Clifford Graybehl "Good Neighbor for 1959."

Graybehl, a popular attendance counselor at North High school, received the fourteenth annual Good Neighbor Award given by the local youth agency. More than 2000 citizens honored Graybehl at a YMCA community breakfast after he was selected for his quiet deeds in behalf of youth.

Dr. Rollin R. Smith, 1959 breakfast chairman, stated in presentation ceremonies that Graybehl "wears many hats as he works to improve our community for the younger generation."

In addition to serving as an understanding attendance counselor at North High, Graybehl devotes each summer to teaching youngsters to swim. He is aquatic director at the city plunge.

Stronger Gas Vent Law Cited

By ROY O. GILBERT, M.D. County Health Officer

Every so often, the importance of properly vented gas heating units is emphasized by a newspaper notice giving a brief account of some victim of carbon monoxide poisoning resulting from the fumes given off by a defective heater. Such tragic incidents always increase in number during the cold months of the year.

Although unvented heaters are most often the cause of such fatalities, they occasionally occur in the case of vented heaters when the vent is not functioning properly or is not vented to the outdoors.

In the State Housing Act of 1951, the operation of unvented gas heaters in all living units within the cities of Los Angeles County was made contrary to law. Landlords became criminally responsible if a tenant met death through the operation of such a heater.

IN SEPTEMBER of this year, the new County Ordinance incorporated the regulations contained in the Housing Act and extended the requirements for the venting of gas heaters to the unincorporated area and to single dwellings as well as multiple units.

Cases of gas poisoning that are caused by improperly operating gas appliances are unnecessary, since all such equipment can easily be checked for

Car Hits Tree In Dense Fog

A 24-year-old Los Angeles man died at Harbor General Hospital early yesterday after his car crashed into a tree near here in the heavy early morning fog.

Succumbing to injuries received in the crash was Ismael Anthony Moreno, a soldier stationed at Fort MacArthur.

Investigating officers said Moreno's car apparently veered off the roadway and hit the tree about 3 a.m. yesterday. Because of the heavy fog, it was not discovered until later when two deputy sheriffs spotted the car through the fog.

His body was taken to the county morgue.

8-Year-Old Hurt

Eight-year-old Carl John Daly was severely injured Friday evening at Palos Verdes Blvd. and Sepulveda when struck by an auto.

COMING THURSDAY . . . Ann Landers, one of America's most widely read human relations columnists, has just completed a tour of Russia where she talked to the people as she is shown here, chatting with a young Russian on the sidewalk just outside the wall of the Kremlin. Her 12-part report on Russia will begin Thursday in the Herald.

Starts Thursday

Exclusive Report On Russia Slated

Coming! Ann Landers in Russia—exclusively yours in the Herald!

Coming! A timely look at the people, their attitudes, and aspirations under Communism, by America's most widely read human relations columnist.

Ann Landers is just back from Russia, where she went to test for herself the truth of the Red boast that "the people of Russia have no emotional problems."

In three weeks of concentrated observation, Ann Landers covered divorce and peoples' courts, shops, hotels, and homes. She talked to Russians of every age, all degrees of political fervor, and many occupations: shop girls, hotel maids, waiters, housewives, students, hairdressers, and others.

You'll find absorbing reading in Ann Landers' penetrating observations on life in Russia and the mental and emotional makeup of the people. You'll learn what motivates people under Communism, and discover some of the odd ways in which they attempt to ignore reality.

For a sharply focused picture of life in Russia today, read "Ann Landers in Russia." Watch for it starting Thursday in the Herald.
