Area Doctors Issue New Warning on Plastic Bags

As fall clothes are brought out of storage, their covering plastic cleaning bags again become a major menace.

When the bags are removed from the cleaning, they should be destroyed. They should be shredded or tied in knots and put in a tightly covered disposal can, an article recommended in a recent issue of Today's Health, published by the American Medical Association.

THEY SHOULD never be used as make-shift covering for pillows, blankets or mattresses in baby carriages, playpens or cribs.

The bags with "their softness, silkiness and see-through characteristics" attract children as playthings. Children love to pull the bags over their heads, but when they do, they face possible death.

It appears, the article explained, that an electrostatic charge may be generated by friction from handling the bag. The youngster, while peering through, is apt to have the bag literally grab him through the electrical attraction to his face.

IF THIS happens, only prompt intervention of an adult will prevent tragedy. A child can fight back at the material, but he cannot tear it. Dizziness, inability to think, and muscle spasm occur. Breathing become more and more rapid. Vomiting with inhalation of undigested food puts an end to this terrible situation, the article said.

The article was written by Beatrice Schapper of New York.

A SINGLE hypnotic suggestion successfully cured an eight-day case of hiccups in a man recovering from a heart attack, two Philadelphia doctors have reported.

A serious complication of myocardial infarction, hiccups produce extreme exhaustion in the patient if they are prolonged, Drs. Gordon Bendersky and Martin Baren said.

A 55-year-old man developed hiccups 22 days after he had suffered a heart attack. After eight days of almost constant hiccuping, during which all the standard treatment methods were tried, the patient was given one hypnotic suggestion that the hiccups would disappear.

"This proved to be successful. Except for two hiccups which occurred several hours later, the hiccups failed to return. The remainder of his convalescence was uneventful," the doctors wrote in a recent issue of Archives of Internal Medicine, published by the American Medical Association.

NO OTHER CASE of successful termination of hiccups following a single hypnotic suggestion has been reported, the doctors said.

While the general use of hypnosis for eliminating psychosomatic manifestations cannot be endorsed and may be highly dangerous, the doctors said, they believe the seriousness of the hiccups and the failure of all other methods warranted its use.

SCIENCE EQUIPMENT . . . Torrance Elementary School students get a sneak preview of the science carts and bioscopes which will be introduced at several elementary schools. Elementary School Students Get New Tools for Learning Science

Elementary school science programs in Torrance are getting a boost this fall, with introduction of new equipment bought in cooperation with the federal government.

Under terms of a grant in Public Law 864, the Torrance Unified School District has purchased 20 science carts, three science instruction centers, 15 bioscopes, and 164 books and models designed to spur youthful interest in science.

WORKMEN in district shops currently are completing the science carts, which will contain a sink, electric burner, storage space for necessary equipment, and a table top specially designed for experiments. The carts will be on rollers for easy moving from room to room. Seventh and eighth grade teachers will keep a watchful eye on all experiments and will receive special instructions.

Three schools, Perry, Crenshaw, and Wood will have science instruction centers installed in eighth grade rooms. The centers, placed near the sink, will house beakers, test tubes, chemicals, and other necessary equipment.

BIOSCOPES CAN BE used either by one student or a whole class in viewing microscopic organisms. A bioscope is a microscope which also can project slides onto a screen for easy viewing and discussion by an entire class.

In addition to training teachers in use of the special materials, the district also purchased a number of books and models to supplement the regular program. Two books, "Elementary School Science and How to Teach It" and "Science Experiences in the Elementary School" have been purchased to place in each school.

Careful study will be made to plan best uses of the new equipment and books, officials said.

Garden Checklist

By California Association of Nurserymen

1. Delphinium clumps should be staked out so you won't dig them up by mistake after the tops die down.
2. Lawn seed mixes contain some varieties that are slow to sprout. Don't stop watering, just because some of the grasses have been up a week or two. There may be more to come. Never let soil become dry.
3. Natives planted this month will establish themselves during the rainy season and you won't have to worry about watering them again.
4. Cyclamen is available in bloom at nurseries. It will carry its color right through the cool months of winter.
5. Hoe off weeds over bulb beds as soon as early rains bring them out. You'll find this eliminates a good many of them that you might have to pull later on.
