Three Local Girls Selected For Mayco 1960 College Board

Mayco South Bay introduces three pretty Torrance coeds who were selected for the 1960 College Board. Representing three different schools, these girls couple a clear understanding of campus life with a winning sense of fashion to help the prospective college girl select her fall wardrobe. College girls all over California are notified of this project through letters sent by Mayco executives to the Deans of Women and sorority presidents of some twenty-five schools.

This year marks the twentieth anniversary of the store's initial 1940 College Board. Through the years Mayco has found a sincere feeling for campus life to be essential in every girl selected for their College Board. The prospective student can then be assured of finding gracious, sure answers to any questions on the pattern of college existence.

Merchandise managers and buyers representing the various fashion departments instruct the college misses in an intensive training program during their first week at Mayco. Highlighting this training program is a forecast on fall fashions featuring current trends in colors, fabrics, and silhouettes by Mrs. Katie Safford, fashion co-ordinator for the seven May Company stores. Previews of college fashions for both on campus and off campus are shown samples of merchandise purchased by the May Company stores.

Deanna Fries, a senior at UCLA, heads the forty coeds as College Board Advisor. Usually a senior student with past experience on one of Mayco's College Boards, the advisor is selected by the Directors of Training and Personnel to co-ordinate the activities of the seven boards.

For the college board girl who takes top honors in helping interested customers, each week Mayco awards an article of campus wear to add to her new fall wardrobe.

Advantages of this annual project are twofold. For the interested visitor, there is the assurance of learning first-hand information on college fashions and activities. For the people at Mayco, there is the knowledge of representation by smart college girls on campuses all over the United States.

Local Teachers Hosts Taalolo at Convention

The Taalolo, a Samoan dinner and native entertainment, given by the South Bay Branch of the Music Teachers' Assn. of California at the State Convention in Long Beach last week was acclaimed the highlight of the entire convention. In the considered opinion of Mrs. Isobel Stovel, state historian for the teachers, as expressed before the entire assemblage the following day, this event hosted by the South Bay branch served to make this the most outstanding and enjoyable convention in the association's history, with the exception of the convention given in Sacramento in 1916. This year marks the Teachers' 50th Annual Convention. South Bay Branch was complimented not only on the excellence of the dinner and entertainment but also for the friendly, informal atmosphere and get-together spirit attained in this gathering of over two hundred people from all over the state of California.

Assisting South Bay President Maryestelle Ford and First Vice President Dorothy Allen was the Convention Committee, namely Lilas Stefan, chairman, Carolyn Hennemann, Janelle Christensen, Lucille Knight and Shirley Everhart. Among table hosts and hostesses were: MacDonald Scott, Alfreda Headley and Gertrude Lumsden.
