History became a reality for the Frank Foresters and their two sons, James and Ronald, 1416 Fern Ave., who have just returned from Washington, D. C. They were guests of Mr. Forester's mother, Senator Eva Bowring, who is now serving on the Federal Parole Board, having been appointed by President Eisenhower. The family then accompanied her across country stopping in Kansas City where they were guests of Mrs. Forester's sister.

They went on to Washington, D. C. where a thorough tour of the nation's capitol had been planned. Among the highlights of the trip was their visit with Sen. Thomas Kuechel from California who was having lunch in the Senators' dining room at the same time the localites were there.

Another thrill for the Foresters was dinner at the Occidental restaurant in Washington where there is a display of pictures of famous people of the United States government among them a picture of Sen. Bowring.

Of special interest to Mrs. Forester, who is a past grand regent of the Court St. Catherine, Catholic Daughters, was the all day trip touring the Immaculate Conception Shrine being constructed in Washington. Consultant Here Aug. 13

Miss Joyce Bickel, fashion representative for Koret of California, will be at the May Co. South Bay Store on Saturday, Aug. 13 from 2:30 to 5:30 p.m. "California sports fashions set sportswear trends for the entire world," says Miss Bickel, consumer fashion manager for Koret of California, famed San Francisco sportswear firm. "California designers created a completely new type of fashions when they introduced exciting, functional clothes for sports and casual wear in the 1930's. Today California continues to set the world fashion pace in colorful, wearable sportswear," she points out. "It is always exciting to introduce Koret of California's fashions to the consumer," Miss Bickel says, "as coordinated sportswear presents a challenge to one's imagination and good taste, in combining and mixing styles and colors to create a personalized and smart wardrobe."
