Park Concert Praised by Local Crowd

Last Sunday evening the Civic Symphony gave the people of Torrance and the surrounding area their first "Star Light" concert. Under the inspired artistic leadership of "Maestro" Elyse Aehle, the orchestra played brilliantly and with great lyric quality. The park took on a soft beauty and event the weather co-operated in creating an evening of memorable delight.

A capacity audience filled all the regular places and the many extra seats which had been crowded into every available space. A short vesper service before the concert set a tone of grateful peace. Representing the Torrance Ministerial Assn., Rev. William Schatz planned a short service that in its beauty of word and form was like music, and Rev. Hugh Percy gave a meditation which was equally full of poetic beauty.

THE EVENING hymns were accompanied by a double string quartet and bells from the orchestra, however the congregation had some difficulty in singing because they did not have enough light to see the words. Also perhaps the front of the stage would have been better off with more light.

Enthusiastic applause followed each offering of the orchestra especially "La Vie Parisienne," "Pavane," and "Show Boat," but the listeners showed appreciation of the difficult "Polka and Fugue" from "Shvanda" by giving it their highest acclaim. Played with infectious gaiety and skill it well-deserved their praise. The last number "On the Mall" set the audience to whistling and all went home humming or whistling the catchy tune.

ONE SOUR NOTE in the enjoyment of the evening was sounded by a group of little boys who hovered around the outside of the enclosure trying to attract attention to themselves by making extraneous noises. The audience paid little or no heed to them, but it seems too bad that these children have not learned better manners. They were apparently wandering about the park unaccompanied by any adults, which also seems to be a dangerous situation.

Soloists were Sylvia and Ronald Romm, accompanied by Eileen Romm. The gifted family played well and Ronald is the most talented 13-year-old trumpeter that this reviewer has ever heard.

Altogether this was a wonderful evening and the Torrance Recreation is to be praised and thanked for sponsoring this event. It is to be hoped they will repeat it soon and often.
