The South Bay Chapter was chartered seven years ago when a group of civic minded women headed by Mrs. Herman Markowitz raised funds in memory of Blanche Friend Austin, an active South Bay Club Woman who had died of Cancer.

The City of Hope, Duarte, Calif. had its beginning in 1912 as a free refuge for tubercular patients. It has since expanded into a multimillion dollar Hospital and Research Center covering 95 acres—all made possible through the dimes and dollars of private donation. The free services offered have since increased to cover other catastrophic major diseases also, including cancer, heart disease amenable to surgery, leukemia, and Hodgkin's disease. There are no race, creed, color, or nationality restrictions at City of Hope. If your income is moderate, or less, and a member of your family is suffering from one of the above catastrophic diseases, and have been referred by your family physician, you qualify for City of Hope care. In the special division for leukemia patients, provisions have been made for a parent to live on the premises for the City of Hope believes in preserving the family.

For reservations for Sunday's mammoth benefit call Mrs. Herman Markowitz or Mrs. Daisy Odom Geery.

YOUR PROBLEMS

by Ann Landers

True Love Invites Competition

Dear Ann Landers: What are you — some kind of nut or something? You told a guy who had his eye on a girl who was going steady to call her up for a date. This is strictly against the code. Going steady means nobody is supposed to muscle in.

If a girl can't be faithful to a guy when they're going steady, she probably won't be a faithful wife. Your advice encourages chiseling and we don't like it. OFF OF YOU!

Dear Off Of Me: Going steady is no proving ground for marriage. It's merely an agreement that two people want to go with each other exclusively — for the time being.

The steady arrangement does not demand complete faithfulness in the same way marriage does. Both parties are still free to cast about if they wish.

True love does not fear competition. It invites it.

Dear Ann Landers: I work from 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. My wife has a day-time job for which she is paid the grand sum of $35 a week. This louses up many of my employment benefits, plus the fact that I'm alone all day.

If I shave on my day off she says I'm getting slicked up to see a dame. If a woman speaks to me on the street she says it's someone I'm cheating with. If we are out somewhere and I happen to turn around she says I'm "looking for somebody."

I have never chiseled on her in the eight years we've been married but if she doesn't quit accusing me I'm going to enjoy the game so long as she's giving me the name. What do you suggest?—BIG TEXAS TROUBLES

Dear Texas: People who are jealous and suspicious without cause are sick. It may well be that she needs a doctor.

If you wife is so concerned about keeping you to yourself I suggest she quit her job and not leave you to shift for yourself five days a week. Show her this column and ask her if it reminds her of anybody she knows.

Dear Ann Landers: Until I read the letter from "Undecided" I didn't think there could be two of us.

I hope you tell this woman it will be the biggest mistake of her life if she lets her husband "taper off" his affair with the other woman. If you want a case history here's mine:

After 16 years and four children Nick left me and moved in with a younger woman and her 10-year-old daughter.

When Nick refused to come home I filed for divorce. Last summer we decided to try it again for the children's sake. He hated to hurt this "fine woman" so he asked me to let him gravitate away from her slowly.

Like a chump I agreed. The mistake lasted four months.

My children got wind of the arrangement and when the 15-year-old asked, "Mother, where is your self-respect?" I suddenly realized I didn't have any.

I told him to stay over there all the time because I was going ahead with the divorce. Now he's begging me to take him back. If I had made it clear from the start that I would not tolerate such shabby treatment I might have had a decent marriage today.

To learn how to keep your boy friend in line without losing him, read for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Necking and Petting—And How Far To Go," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)
