has ruled her four children with an iron hand. None of them likes each other but she demands that they put up a solid front of love and harmony which is so phony it's nauseating.

She hates me because I refuse to kow-tow to her. I also encourage my husband to stand up for his rights and make his own decisions.

My husband can't stand the guys his two sisters married yet his mother insists they be social friends or it won't look nice to outsiders.

He still calls her "Mama." What can I do? — MAVERICK
Dear Maverick: The pattern is set and you aren't going to alter it after 35 years. An ideal solution would be to move out of town. If you can't swing this, then take hold of the social reins and line up your free evenings with interesting friends instead of boring relatives.

To learn the difference between a marriage that "settles down" and one that "gets dull," send for ANY LANDERS' booklet, "What to Expect from Marriage," enclosing with your request $20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.
