Phillip Cosby Enters Cal Poly

Phillip A. Cosby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Cosby, 911 Faysmith, has been accepted as a freshman crop production major at the Kellogg campus of California State Polytechnic College, school officials have reported.

Phillip graduated from Torrance High this spring, and he will enter Cal Poly for the fall quarter beginning Sept. 19. His first week will consist of orientation activities, tests, physical examination, and registration.

More than 2000 students are expected to enroll in the college's divisions of agriculture, engineering, arts and sciences, and business, an increase of approximately 30 per cent over the spring quarter enrollment of 1600.

New Trading Stamp Laws Provide Protection to Savers, Solon Says

By RICHARD RICHARDS, State Senator

Legislation enacted by the 1959 Legislature to provide closer regulation of trading-stamp practices became effective on July 1, when the new fiscal year began.

The new regulatory provisions now in effect were contained in two separate bills, and at the time they were being considered, my office received a great many letters from housewives who saved the stamps themselves and were fearful that the practice might be too closely restricted or abolished altogether.

AS IT turned out, these fears were groundless, since the new regulations actually provide greater protection for stamp savers from unsound or mis-managed operations in the trading-stamp field.

Trading stamp companies must now be licensed by the Corporations Commission, and to obtain a license they must post a bond ranging from $25,000 to $100,000, depending upon the annual volume of their business.

SHOULD A TRADING stamp company default in the redemption of its stamps, the Commissioner may file a claim against the company and its surety on behalf of stamp holders.

A further requirement is that the company must redeem its goods in merchandise or cash at the option of the holder, and the Commissioner is empowered to suspend or revoke licenses after a public hearing.

THE NAME of the trading stamp firm issuing stamps must be printed on each stamp, along with their cash-redemption value in cents, mills or fractions. Stamps presented for redemption in cash must have an aggregate value of at least a dollar.

A merchant proposing to discontinue the use of stamps is required to post a notice to that effect prominently displayed in every place where stamps are issued.

NO TRADING stamp company may stop issuing stamps without giving 90 days' notice to the Corporation Commissioner and to each merchant in the state who issues its stamps. Violations are punishable by fines up to $1000.

The new law does not apply to merchants who issue their own coupons and redeem them in cash or from their own stocks.

AT THIS DATE I do not foresee any difficulties that may be put in the way of stamp savers, but they will be assured of many additional protections that they did not have before.

Mr. Ryhlick, chief writer for television and industrial films for Wade Advertising Agency and McNamara Productions, Inc., will speak on "The Case History of an Idea."

$15 Million Earned By Home Investors

The total of approximately $15,037,000 paid in earnings by Home Savings and Loan Assn. in the first six months of 1960 was made to savers in all of Home's 23 branches throughout Southern California.

"This record payment is even more impressive when you consider that, if distributed equally to everyone in Torrance, it would provide $149.46 for every man, woman and child in our community," said Jerome B. Scott, manager of Home's Torrance Branch, in reviewing Home's six month report that broke all records for the nation's savings and loan industry.
