of her own and Ted, is her favorite nephew.
This aunt doesn't like me because I'm not a college girl and I don't have anything to brag about on the society page of the newspaper when our engagement is announced.
We've gone together three years and planned to marry in October. Now Ted tells me he needs time to think it over. He feels he owes his aunt "a lot" and that if he marries me he will break her heart and cut himself off from a nice inheritance. How do I fight this? HEARTSICK
Dear Heartsick: With your hat, grab it and run. A three year romance that can be strangled with a money-belt wasn't very healthy to begin with.

To learn the back of feeling comfortable with the opposite sex, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How to Be Darned Well," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.
Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.
