

Pre-Schoolers Again Offered Three Classes

The Torrance Adult school is again offering three classes for pre-schoolers and their parents, at Waleria and McMaster parks, beginning Sept. 19. Registration will take place at the first meeting of the new semester; at McMaster park, 3624 W. 174th St. (at Yukon Ave.), Tuesday, Sept. 19, and Thursday, Sept. 21; at Waleria park, 3855 W. 242nd St. (Ocean Ave. and 242nd St.), Wednesday, Sept. 20.

Classes at these parks are held in the morning from 9 a.m. to noon. Mrs. Lillian Randall will conduct the classes at McMaster park and Mrs. Fritz Greenspan, former teacher of the child observation classes held in the Waleria area, is returning to the program at Waleria park this fall.

THESE UNIQUE classes of children two and a half to kindergarten age an opportunity for regular supervised play with other pre-schoolers. Other satisfying experiences in the morning's activities include: working with creative materials; clay, easel and finger paint; music participation; outdoor play; picture cards; story time; block and dollhouse play; rest and nutrition.

For the parents an educational program is featured. An opportunity is provided for observation and study of the individual child, noting the many ways children grow, learn to share and conform to routines. There is a discussion period for the adults while the children play outdoors under the supervision of competent committees.

DURING THE adult discussion, child rearing as well as specific problems of personal health habits, food and eating, rest and sleeping, discipline, sibling rivalry, suitable toys, books, records, playtime activity, behavior patterns, family crisis, and a variety of subjects relating to child development and parent education is covered extensively.

Parents observe activities and assist in running the nursery school-like projects, where their young hopefuls learn to get along with others, to share toys and play equipment, to experience the small sorrows, joys and disappointments which lead to better adjustment with people the rest of their lives.

"We have fun," Mrs. Greenspan and Mrs. Randall say, "but always with the goal of working constructively toward greater self-understanding and increased effectiveness as parents."

EACH ADULT keeps a written record of the morning's activities, noting everything the child says, does, is told, behavior, etc. From this report, the parent makes an evaluation of the child's progress and is able to more intelligently appraise behavior. One of the outstanding values to the adult participant of this once-a-week class is the opportunity to observe trained leadership; to observe and practice successful techniques used in dealing with young children; to understand and use effectively recent research findings.

Enrollment is limited, and registration will be conducted on a first come basis.

Each person is to provide a blanket for rest period, a share toy, a child's apron and a pencil or pen.

Mint is a wonderful accessory for iced tea or other cooling drinks. It's a good idea to confine the roots of this prolific grower to some container. In areas where it has run rampant, rooting it out bit by bit is the only answer. Fortunately the roots are surface runners and are easy to get out.
