200 Women Pilots Expected Here For Fall Meeting Next Weekend

The City of Torrance in cooperation with the Long Beach Chapter of the Ninety-Nines will again play host to an anticipated 200 women pilots from the Southwest states as they participate in their annual Fall Sectional meeting next Friday, Saturday, and Sunday. Headquartered at the Jump 'n Jack, the international organization of licensed women pilots will begin the three-day activities with a cocktail party and dinner at the Palos Verdes Country Club. A business luncheon meeting will be conducted Saturday afternoon with the climax of the weekend events a reception and banquet which fill feature as guest speaker, Dr. Robert Donaldson, flight surgeon of North American Aviation.

Facilities of the Torrance Municipal Airport will be extended to the pilots through the cooperation of Jack Egan, airport manager, and E. G. "Slim" Kidwell.

IN CHARGE of arrangements for the weekend activities is Mrs. Ellis O. Wagner of Palos Verdes Estates who has been assisted by Mrs. Edward Jackett of Torrance. Other members of the committee include Mrs. John Nitzzen and Mrs. Richard Weaver of Palos Verdes Estates; Mrs. Mildred Krueger, Mrs. Mark A. Choleuski, Mrs. Robert A. Meyers, Mrs. Donald Dougherty, Mrs. Arthur A. Tuttle, Mrs. Robert Ross, and Mrs. Pinkney of Torrance; and Mrs. Ruth Gay of Long Beach.

Cooperation of the Torrance Chamber of Commerce has again been extended to assure a hospital welcome for the returning Ninety-Nines. Assisting with the hospitality will be aviation-minded members of the local Civil Air Patrol and Wing Scouts units.

BEST BUYS FOR THE WEEK

Vegetables — ARTICHOKES... starting. Heading for increases in Oct., Nov., Dec. SNAP BEANS. Moderate supplies. BROCCOLI supplies picking up. Much more in Oct. BRUSSELS SPROUTS' season. In plentiful through Jan. CAULIFLOWER. Light shipment now, but winter crop starts in Oct. CELERY heading for a peak of harvest in Nov. CORN beyond heavy abundance, but ample supplies to fill demand. CUCUMBERS. Volume holding fairly steady. PEAS. A few are coming in. PEPPERS. Fine quality Bell Peppers moving to market. POTATOES. Both Long Whites and Russets coming from California fields. TOMATOES from fine producing areas.

FRUIT — APPLES. A long list of favorite varieties in market. AVOCADOS. Summer varieties holding up well. FIGS... season about over. GRAPES. Now is the time for some of our finest. MELONS. Plentiful. NECTARINES. Getting late for these. Work fast. PEACHES. Season drawing to close. PEARS. Top quality Bartletts here now.

PLUMS. A few still here. POMEGRANATES and QUINCE.

PROTEIN FOODS — POULTRY continues to lead the list of budget buys. TURKEYS and CHICKENS... fine quality. BEEF and LAMB to be "specialized" quite generally in southland markets. PORK supplies expected to pick up in a few more weeks. EGGS... budget stretchers.

WHAT PRECAUTIONS SHOULD AMERICANS TAKE...

for survival in the event of a nuclear attack? Well, the United States Department of Agriculture urges families to store and maintain a special stock of food and water. Always keep a 2-weeks' supply on hand. Emergency foods should be selected that will last for months without refrigerating, and that take little or no cooking. You can get all the facts in "Family Food Stockpile for Survival" (HG-77). It tells how to store and how often to replace food stockpiles. It lists equipment needed for emergency cooking. Sample menus show how to provide a reasonably balanced diet. FREE copies available from Office of Information, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C.

Harbor College Forum Series Topics Listed

Speakers and topics for Harbor College's fourth annual Forum series were announced yesterday by Leo N. Sirakides, chairman of the Harbor College Forum Committee.

The series this year will feature an explorer, classic films, and a lecture by a Harbor faculty member, concluding with the appearance of Margaret Mead, world-famous anthropologist. All programs will be in the main gym on the Wilmington campus at 1111 Figueroa Place.

THE FIRST program, Thursday, Sept. 28, will feature adventurer-explorer John Goddard narrating in person his full length color film, "Exploring Lands Down Under." Goddard has appeared in two previous Forum programs to capacity audiences.

Famous comedians of the silent screen, from Fatty Arbuckle to the Keystone Cops, will appear in the film "Golden Age of Comedy" for the second program Tuesday, Oct. 24.

THE COLORFUL and sometimes controversial anthropologist Margaret Mead, who has spent years investigating aboriginal societies, will conclude the series speaking on "Contrasts Between East and West" on the final program Tuesday, April 10.

Season tickets are available to the general public at a cost of $2 for the series. Admission price for single programs is 50 cents, except for the Margaret Mead lecture which is $1.

A season ticket for the entire series may be purchased through the mail from College Forum, 1111 Figueroa Place, Wilmington. Tickets may also be purchased at the college finance office, or at the box office Sept. 28.

Lomita Street Name Changed

Supervisor Burton W. Chace today announced a street name change in the Lomita area. Artisano Ave., between 240th St. and a line approximately 95 feet southerly of 247th St., will henceforth be known as Walnut St., Chace said.

The change was approved today by the Board of Supervisors upon the recommendation of the Regional Planning Commission.
