

SHOP TALK . . . Walt Niemi (right), product support engineer of Vickers, presents a Vickers utility pump as a "pump performance trophy" to M/Sgt. Daniel R. Cane, crewman for the famed Air Force Thunderbirds. The supersonic jets flown by the Thunderbirds in precision demonstrations are each equipped with three of the Vickers pumps. None has recorded a malfunction, officials report.

Your baby's fruits get a "college education"

May seem strange, but in many cases Gerber Strained and Junior Fruits do get the benefit of a college education. Gerber Agricultural Researchers work with agricultural colleges and growers to improve orchards, growing methods and the quality of your baby's fruit. What's more, once harvested, the fruit must pass rigid "entrance examinations" for juiciness, ripeness, flavor and color. Then, all through processing, at least 28 checks are made to insure purity and the utmost in nutritive values.

All this care is typical of the countless research projects conducted on a continuing basis, to bring your little one superior foods. For when it comes to babies... mothers and Gerber agree... it's quality first.

Babies are our business... our only business!
