

LIFE'S LIKE THAT By FRED NEHER

"Eric's face should be cleaner than mine... he's been washing it ten months longer than I have!"

Sears Introducing Rugged Shoes for Boys

A name usually associated with the Southern California built edge-of-space research plane, capable of traveling six times faster than the speed of sound, has now been utilized to designate a new line of boys' shoes that will wear longer. Science, working in two separate fields, has now made two major breakthroughs.

ONE, IN THE X-15 rocket plane, forerunner of the earth-to-moon space ship and a prototype of the airplanes which will someday span the continent in one-half hour. The second, in the new line of X-15 boys' footwear, enables parents to stop worrying about shoes wearing out.

Permanently bonded to the uppers, the polyvinyl soles and heels of the new shoes are guaranteed for the life of the shoes. In addition, as another aid to the busy homemaker, the soles will not mark floors.

OTHER NEW features of the X-15 line of boys' shoes include a Sta-Brite scuff-resistant leather upper, full cushioned insole from heel to toe and a crushproof polyvinyl counter.

The X-15 line of boys' shoes is available exclusively at Sears, Roebuck and Co. retail stores, and is named after the record-breaking rocket plane upon which the new motion picture "X-15" is based. Ralph Taeger co-stars in the dramatic movie of the world famous research plane, opening Wednesday, Nov. 22, in neighborhood theaters.

Art Work On Display

Mrs. Enid B. Helvey of 4403 Newton St., an art instructor at Los Angeles City College, has an oil color painting on display at the college fine arts gallery.

Her painting is part of 31 works on display by the college's art department faculty. Open to the public, the exhibition will run until Monday, Nov. 27. The gallery, 855 N. Vermont Ave., is open from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Fridays.

The exhibit features paintings, ceramics and sculptured works by eight art instructors.

Monodrama Tickets Out

Tickets are still available for the Christmas program, a monodrama entitled "Mary, Mother of Jesus," to be presented at Wayfarers' Chapel, Portuguese Bend, Dec. 3 and 10.

Dorothy Carter Haven, nationally known dramatist who has been called a "one woman theater," will portray Jesus' Mother in five scenes extending from the family circle in Nazareth to the temple in Jerusalem.

Two performances—at 4 and at 7:30 p.m.—are scheduled on each of the Sunday dates. Free reserved tickets may be obtained by writing the Wayfarers' Chapel or telephoning FR 7-1650. Seating will be limited.
