Record Employment Level Highlights Bank Survey

Record employment levels and a continued decrease in unemployment highlighted Southern California's business activity during the month of October, J. J. Weigel, manager of Security First National Bank's Torrance branch, reported today.

Security's index of business activity for October stood at 228.8 (preliminary), to register a slight increase over the previous month's all time high of 228.5. October's reading was 5.9 per cent over the same period of a year ago.

The employment picture remained virtually unchanged from September to October, Weigel said. Employment highs in the Los Angeles-Long Beach and San Bernardino-Riverside areas were balanced by employment reductions in other areas, with gains and losses generally matching seasonal expectations.

EMPLOYMENT for the month bettered the October 1960, level by more than two per cent, and represented the fourth consecutive month in which every major area had reported a year-to-year gain. Unemployment continued its downward trend which began in July of this year. Every major area in the Southland contributed to the reduction, despite the fact that in most areas unemployment is expected to increase moderately over October 1960. However, in Southern California as a whole, unemployment was nearly 8 per cent over October, 1960.

BUILDING and construction activity in the 14-county area for October was at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $4,300,000,000. On an unadjusted basis, the month was the second largest on record.

The impressive showing, according to Security's report, was attributed to a sharp rise in home building activity and the awarding of a large volume of engineering construction contracts.

On the basis of the first 10 months' performance, it appears that total building and construction for 1961 will reach an all-time high for the tenth straight year, at about $3,600,000,000, the bank noted.

Of the 14 seasonally adjusted index components, nine registered gains from September to October. Greatest month-to-month gains were registered by industrial power sales, each of the bank debit series, building permits, and engineering construction contracts awarded, Security Bank said.

Local Firm Gets Order On Missile

Bernard Levine, president of Vernitron Corp. of Carle Place, N.Y., and Torrance, announced that his firm has been awarded a contract by General Dynamics/Pomona for the development of a boosterless resolver chain for the Mauler missile system.

When completed, the chain will be the heart of the coordinated conversion system for the stabilization of the new mobile missile system.

Levine said the resolver chain combines high reliability with reduced costs.

Vernitron Corp. is a leading independent designer-manufacturer of resolvers, synchros, and other precision servo components.

The Army Rocket and Guided Missile Agency, an element of the Army Ordnance Missile Command, Redstone Arsenal, Alabama, has overall charge of Mauler development.

APPOINTED . . . Don Wolf has been named public relations director for Marina Federal Savings in an announcement by R. C. Chase, president of the firm. Wolf, a resident of Torrance and a member of the Torrance Lions Club, has served Marina as an appraiser, chief appraiser, and loan manager.

Two Former Torrance Men Joining CHP

Samuel C. Rogers and Wesley D. Mather, former Torrance residents, will be assigned as traffic officers following their graduation tomorrow from the California Highway Patrol Training Academy in Sacramento.

Both men will be assigned to the south Los Angeles area. They are among 78 new officers who will receive certificates of attainment from Patrol Commissioner Bradford M. Crittenden at the graduation ceremony.
