Great Lakes Group Leaves For Seminars

Loring Marlette, vice president of Great Lakes Carbon and general manager of its Palos Verdes properties, has departed for South America with seven other company executives.

The purpose of the trip is to conduct seminars on filtration processes for brewing, sugar, and chemical industries. Seminar meetings are to be held in Mexico City, Caracas, Buenos Aires, and San Paulo.

Purpose of the seminars as outlined by Marlette are to establish a favorable climate for the exchange of ideas and information, to develop practical solutions to filtration problems, and to promote friendship that will be of maximum benefit to industry in both the United States and Latin America.
