

DUE SATURDAY . . . Humor of satire is charmingly presented by Mayo Loizeaux and Richard Grey, actor-writer team of the production "A Wilde Evening With Shaw." The unique show will be given in the El Camino College Campus Theater Saturday.

Lives of Wilde, Shaw Subject of Production

"Unique" is the word being used to describe "A Wilde Evening With Shaw" which is scheduled for presentation at 8:30 Saturday evening at the Campus Theater at El Camino College.

Richard Gray and Mayo Loizeaux, the two-actor team that carries the production, will wear the double hats of writers and actors. Sir Cedric Hardwicke, internationally famed actor, co-directs the play, which, with the use of conversations, comments and excerpts from plays, emerges as a moving human drama portraying the lives of Oscar Wilde and Bernard Shaw.

Gary and Miss Loizeaux have just completed a road tour with Agnes Morehead in Fry's "A Phoenix Too Frequent." Previously under the banner of Paul Gregory, they put together a two-man Shakespearean program in which, between them they played 18 characters.

Companywide Campaign for Charity Set

Plans for the company wide AID-United Givers campaign of 1962 were announced this week by G. M. Babbe, manager of the Southern California Gas Co.'s Southwest division, headquartered in Inglewood.

In making the announcement, Babbe said that a labor-management committee was busy planning a concentrated five-day campaign to be conducted throughout the company during the week of Oct. 22-26.

The division manager pointed out that the goal of the campaign committee again this year is to enroll as many employees as possible as "Associated-In-Group Donors" for the support of various health and welfare agencies.

AS BABBIE briefly explained the program of charitable giving, each enrolled employee contributes the equivalent of 12 minutes a week. The contributions are made on a year 'round basis with fixed deductions from the employee's biweekly pay check. Such organized giving lends support to the Community Chest, Red Cross, City of Hope and nearly a dozen other charity drives.

"The success of the AID-United Givers plan can be attributed not only to the great saving in time over conducting numerous drives throughout the year, but also in the increased monies collected for organized charity," Babbe said. Labor-management committees in charge of this year's campaign in the Southwest division are J. B. Hyde, O. J. Hue-moller, G. C. Park, C. H. Ray and B. K. Fisher.

ed for Shaw himself on numerous occasions, could no be better qualified for this task. In addition to having been a close personal friend, he received many important breaks from Shaw, both as an actor and director.

Editing and adapting the material for the show constituted a year's work for Gray and Loizeaux. At first, they had intended to contract the work of the two authors, but, as they delved into the works of their subjects, and found surprising links between them, they decided to make the body of their works trace the Wilde Evening characters and lives of these two writers.

"SO SAY the authors, "The letters, speeches, newspaper clippings, essays and plays are welded together to tell their story. And we are both proud and happy to have the opportunity to tell it from the stage." Tickets are on sale now in the Student Store. Admission for the general public is $1.50. All seats are reserved.
