

Small Business Committee Formed to Boost Bruinsma

Formation of a "Small Business for Bruinsma" committee was announced by John Christman, director of the Bruinsma for Congress campaign.

Richard Fears of North Redondo Beach has been named chairman of the organization which is open to all small business owners and employees throughout the 17th Congressional District. Owners of 145 businesses with less than 100 employees have already pledged support to the campaign.

"THE SMALL businessman is today's forgotten man," Congressional nominee Ted Bruinsma said. "And unless something is done immediately to change the situation, we may soon see the extinction of small business. The resourceful, creative operator of individual enterprise has been the strength of a free America.

"Today's small businessman is crowded from all sides," Bruinsma continued. "He is squeezed by big government, by prohibitive taxes, obsolete and discriminatory tax laws, by red tape, and by having to spend his time doing the Government's work."

"WE SPEND billions of dollars throughout the world but there is no constructive effort to help American small business, to strengthen this keystone of our economy and our free way of life.

"The small businessman is a forgotten segment of our economy even though he is the guy who has been the backbone of our country's growth. We need him and he needs help. When I am in Washington I'll see that every stone is turned to help him."

BRUINSMA'S understanding of small business problems will be a key factor in the November elections, it was predicted by Fears.

"Ted Bruinsma has built a small business, created jobs, and met payrolls. He understands our problems," he said.

"Our present Congressman is totally unsympathetic to the needs of small business and the men and women who earn their living working for the smaller companies.

"Our present Congressman seldom comes back to this District to discuss the problems of the small businessman and try to help us.

Every worker who depends on small business to feed his family, should join our campaign to elect Ted Bruinsma to Congress," Fears concluded.
