

YOUR PROBLEMS

by Ann Landers

'Tell Your Mother How You Feel . . .'

Dear Ann Landers: Some teenage girls complain because their parents don't like the boy with whom they are going steady. My problem is the opposite. My mother likes my boy friend too much and I wish she'd cut it out.

Whenever Bruce calls on the phone and my mother answers she hangs on for about 20 minutes. She knows very well he didn't call to talk to her, so why does she do it?

My mother is young-looking and has a knockout figure. She loves to dance and is very good. She is always asking Bruce to dance with her and of course he can't refuse. When they dance I get so annoyed I leave the room.

If there is something wrong with my attitude please tell me and I'll try to do better.—MAYBE JEALOUS

Dear Maybe: Girls with young mothers often have the same feelings you expressed in your letter. Tell your mother how you feel instead of boiling inside and smiling outside.

It's not uncommon for mothers to try to relive their youth through their daughters. If she knew the effect this was having on you I think she'd behave differently. In any event, tell her—and good luck.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband's brother recently insisted that his wife divorce him because he wants to marry another woman. She agreed, rather than become involved in an ugly mess.

During the 12 years of their marriage she was grand to me and my family. I count her as a dear friend, and see no reason why the divorce should have any effect on our relationship.

My husband feels I should not associate with her any longer on the grounds it would be an act of disloyalty to his brother. Am I supposed to behave toward this woman as though she had chicken pox? I would appreciate your counsel.—BEWILDERED

Dear Bewildered: What happened between your husband's brother and his wife should have no bearing on your friendship.

Of course you would not invite her to your home when her ex-husband is present, but any other time would be fine.

Dear Ann Landers: I accepted an engagement ring in May. The following August my fiancé suffered a slight stroke. He seemed to make a good recovery and then had a relapse. Now, he is like a different man.

Everything I say is twisted and we end up in a bitter argument. He is accusatory and demanding. I get a nervous stomach from being in his company for an evening. I realize he is not well and that his illness is depressing, but (Continued on Page 10)

Marsha Grover Becomes Bride of Donald Woods

Lutheran Church of the Resurrection was the setting for the one o'clock wedding ceremony on Saturday, Jan. 26, in which Miss Marsha Lynn Grover, daughter of Mrs. Freda Grover, 151 Camino de los Colinas, became the bride of Donald Keith Woods. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd M. Woods, 16812 Elgar Ave., Torrance.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her brother, Ronald Grover. She wore a bridal gown of white peau de soie, with a lace appliqued bodice. Features of the gown were a round neckline, long sleeves and a bouffant skirt with Chantilly lace side panels. Her crown, points of white satin and pearls, held her shoulder-length veil. Orchids, white roses and stephanotis formed the bridal bouquet.

Miss Carolyn Lee Weir was the maid of honor. She wore a pink organza gown and carried a bouquet of pink miniature roses. Richard Hedgecock stood as best man.

Title Winners Guests Of Senior CDA Court

Court Our Lady of Victory 1344, Catholic Daughters of America, had as special guests at its January business meeting the three Outstanding Troop Juniors of the local Junior Court, Paulette Kleber, Linda Ste. Marie and Helen Cerda.

In vying for the honor of "Outstanding Junior" the girls entered an essay contest on "What It Means to Be a Junior." The 200-word essays were read by the girls at the court meeting.

Paulette Kleber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Kleber, represents the 10th grade troop at Bishop Montgomery High School.

Linda Ste. Marie, named Outstanding Junior of Troop St. Margaret Mary, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Ste. Marie, Torrance. She is a freshman at Bishop Montgomery.

Helen Cerda, Outstanding Junior of Troop St. Francis of Assisi, is the daughter of the Frank Cerdas of Redondo and is an eighth grader at St. James School.

The entire junior membership works for this honor throughout the year and the winner is selected by her counselor on a point system basis.

Each junior writes a 200 word essay "What It Means to Be a Junior" and presents it orally to a group of judges. This year's judges were Mmes. Fred Tamble, Stella Gannon and Margaret Breidenbach.

Outstanding junior from every court in the state will be announced during "Junior Week," Feb. 2 through 9, and they in turn will compete for the title in their diocese or archdiocese.

Five diocesan winners are chosen to compete for the state title.
