Los Angeles Blades Initiate Third Year in Western Loop

The Los Angeles Blades will open their third year in the Western Hockey League at the Sports Arena Tuesday, Oct. 15, and conclude the 1963-64 35-game schedule Saturday, March 21, it was announced today by Blade General Manager Jack Geyer.

The revised WHL consists of Los Angeles, San Francisco,

Portland, Seattle, Vancouver and a new member, Denver. Edmonton and Calgary suspended operations following the 1962-63 campaign.

The Blades will play two games at the 11,000-seat Long Beach Arena. They will meet Portland at the beach city Friday, Dec. 6, and Seattle there Wednesday, March 5.

SPORTS ARENA officials will be put to the test Sunday, March 1, when the Blades play Seattle at 1:30 p.m. and the Los Angeles Lakers basketballers perform the same day at 7 p.m.

The Blades have two other Sunday games, Jan. 19 and March 8, which will begin at 7 p.m.

SINCE THE revised league contains six teams, the playoffs will involve the four top clubs and will pit the first and third and second and fourth finishers against each other in two best four-of-seven series. The winners will then compete in a final four-of-seven series.

With the exception of the three Sunday games, all Blade contests will start at 8 p.m.

Old Feuders Go On Ascot Track

Billy Cantrell, Johnny Moorhouse and Allen Heath, who have been rubbing hubcaps on western speedways for two decades, resume their three-way feud Saturday night at Ascot Park in a national championship USAC 50-lap midget car main event.

The 50-lapper is the headliner of an eight event program that comprises more than 100 laps of racing on Ascot's spectacular "dirt quarter."

It is J. C. Agajanian's sixth program of his Saturday night schedule for the 110 Offy brigade. The midgets gave up their date last week for the national 8-mile motorcycle race.

Cyclists Resume Friday Programs

Sammy Tanner, Elliott Schultz, Jack O'Brien and speed mates of the Southland motorcycle brigade go back to settling their private racing wars tomorrow night at Ascot Park after a midseason break for the 8-mile national championships.

Friday night AMA program directed by J. C. Agajanian, continue until nearly November with another Grand National Championship race Sept. 20.

This is the second annual 50-lap TT Steeplechase with the eastern kingpins returning to again meet the class of the West, this time over the jumps and around the twists and turns of the treacherous infield course.

WESTERN riders warmup for the national steeplechase Sunday night, Aug. 4, in the next Ascot event for the twist and turners.

Competing over the Gardena half-mile oval tomorrow night will be the eight different riders who have shared the winner's circle in the 13 weekly programs to date.

NEVER before has there been such variety among Expert class main event winners which points to furious competition during the second half of the season.
