

All Military Services To Parade Here May 18

Regular Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine and Coast Guard units from throughout the Southland will be leading off the fourth annual Torrance Armed Forces Day parade, May 18, general chairman Fred Rathert has announced.

They will be followed by National Guard and Reserve elements, Naval and Air Force ROTC units, and a host of non-military marching units, he said.

Heading the parade column will be the parade grand marshal, Norman S. Paul, Assistant Secretary of Defense, from Washington, D.C. In the front of the procession, along with Secretary Paul, will be Mayor Albert Isen, Miss Torrance of 1963, Marlane Norsoph, and other dignitaries.

REPRESENTING the regular military will be Army units from Fort MacArthur, including the 72nd U. S. Army Band, and troop units from the garrison and the 47th Artillery Brigade. Their equipment will include the Nike Hercules air defense missile.

Other military bands will be the 523rd Air Force band from March Air Force Base in San Bernardino, the El Toro Marine band, the 40th Armored Division band of the California

National Guard, and the 63rd Infantry Division band, a Los Angeles area unit of the Army Reserve. All of the bands will be followed by large troop units.

A TOTAL OF 19 bands have already been committed to the parade, including many crack high schools and youth groups, Rathert said. Many novelty-type marching units will be in the parade to please both the young and old alike, he added.

Several of the units have been in the parade from previous years. They are returning again this year.

Parade officials have said that this is to be the largest civic-sponsored event in the western U. S. this year. Previous Torrance Armed Forces parades have attracted thousands of spectators from communities in the Southland.

Park Civic Assn. Installs Officers

Officers of the Southwest Park Civic Assn. installed recently during a dinner at Caesar's Restaurant were Earl Knox, president; Leo Fischer, vice president; Mrs. Earl Knox, secretary, and Eva Bisou, treasurer.

The association will meet tomorrow at the Carl Steele School Cafeteria, at 8 p.m., to discuss plans for a community building in La-Romeria Park. Further information is available at FR 1-3734.

CLASS GIFT . . . Members of the Torrance High School senior class have chosen an oil painting of San Francisco as its gift to the school's art collection, continuing a tradition which was started several years ago at the school. El Camino art instructor Larry Macaray describes the painting and the artist in his "Let's Go . . ." column today.

... Let's Go

By LARRY MACARAY

The senior class at Torrance High School has made a selection for the 1963 Senior gift to the school's art collection.

It is an oil painting of San Francisco done by Caesar Hernandez, art department head at Redondo Beach High School. Titled "After Midnight," the painting is dark in general tone with subtle variations of color softly appearing, to reveal the quiet calm of San Francisco in the early morning hours.

Hernandez is widely known as an art teacher as well as a brilliant painter. His work is strong with individuality and with a descriptive, colorful style. I am a great fan of his. . . I like the quality of good craftsmanship in his varied subjects that range from European scenes to California seascapes. Visiting with Caesar and his wife, Theodora, is always a treat for me and I get a chance to see many of his paintings this way.

BORN IN Carpinteria, Calif., Hernandez is a descendant of the pioneer Ortega and Sanchez families of Santa Barbara, whose Spanish land grants were in Ventura County. He is a graduate in art from UCLA, has a masters degree from USC. He has also studied at Art Center School and Chouinard's Institute, has exhibited in the 91st annual American Watercolor Show in New York City at the National Academy Gallery, and most recently had a one-man exhibition of oils and watercolors at Bowers Museum in Santa Ana.

LAST YEAR the senior class was fortunate to purchase "Boats" by Al Lecoque of Paris, Lecoque's paintings are

Cub Pack 785-C

At the Blue and Gold dinner held by Cub Pack 785-C recently, Howard Patterson, retiring cub master, introduced Bill De Prez, who will assume the former's duties. Patterson, with Al Romero, will continue as assistant cubmaster.

New pack chairman is Don Chaney and committeemen are: Phil Cogbill, treasurer; Bill Ingles, secretary; Dick Oliver, membership chairman; Rally Ketsdever, publicity. Pack representative is Ed Price and activities and refreshments are under the direction of Keith Williams and Gary Goluhm.

CUB OF THE MONTH award was received by Mark Ketsdever of Den 6. Table display awards were won by Den 5 and Den 2.

an inspiration to world travel. He has painted and studied in his native Prague, Paris, Rome, Naples, the Isle of Capri and in the Americas.

In 1908, when he was 17, he was at the Julian Academy in Paris, studying under Marcel Baschet, Emile Bernard and Jules Pascin. Bernard, the friend of Vincent van Gogh, had the most salutary effect upon Lecoque's art. After working with Bernard, he received the first prize of 3,000 gold francs at the Concours in 1914.

Lecoque was a close friend of Auguste Renoir and also studied with him. Recently, Lecoque wrote a book entitled "Renoir, Mon Ami," and in December last year, he sent me an autographed copy from Paris. Of course I was overjoyed to receive it . . . but it was all written in French.

LAST MONTH I went to the Frederick Anthon Gallery in Beverly Hills to see an exhibition of Lecoque's and Bernard's work together. Really was interesting to see the works of the master and pupil together, but now Lecoque's stature has risen to equal many of the French masters.

Had to laugh this morning while reading an ad in the morning paper. A photo of a 34-year-old man, bored with life, and the headline was "What's the matter with you, Everett Haygood?" The homey copy went something like this: "When you were 16 you had it all figured out. You were going to make a lot of money at something—and you're still living with your mother, who's sure you boss is afraid of you—you make 8,300 dollars a year and every summer you take your vacation in days so you can fix screens, get rid of the crab grass . . ." Somehow it seems to be so typical of a great many people we meet everyday.

The ad was by an airlines company trying to get the "stay-at-home" to travel. So many people really are satisfied with second-and-third-hand experiences. They would rather read a book about doing certain things than actually do these things. They would rather go to the movies and see other people act out the lives that they would like to lead (maybe). I wonder how many of Elizabeth Taylor's critics would really like to change places with her.

Anyway, it looks like the travel people are trying to convince the "non-traveler" that we all get older—and to travel now, while we really can enjoy it. A new approach . . . but oh, how true!
