

'Democracy' Keynotes New Waleria Student Council

"Democracy in Action" is the keynote of the newly formed Waleria Advisory Council of Students, under the leadership of James Hamilton, fourth grade teacher, at Waleria School. The council was formed when the new Hillside School was opened relieving Waleria School of double sessions in the upper grades.

One representative and one alternate was chosen from each room in grades four to eight. Parliamentary procedure is observed in solving problems presented by the pupils. Meetings are called only when problems facing the student body arise. These problems are discussed by the council and then referred to the classrooms by representatives. Another meeting is then held by the council to discuss the views of the students at large before action is taken by the council.

The following students were elected to office: Bill Hall, eighth grade chairman; Marian Daniels, seventh grade vice-chairman; Susan Terwilliger, sixth grade secretary. Other council representatives are: Lil Mishimoto, Jimmy Broman, Suzanne Schenk, David McCarthy, Dennis Iverson, Carol Carter, and Blake Richardson.
